Soft Stand Is Reversed By Frondizi

President Yields Under Pressure Of Military Chiefs

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP)—President Arturo Frondizi yielded under pressure of military leaders Thursday night and broke diplomatic relations with Fidel Castro's Communist Cuba.

The action, reversing Argentina's soft stand on Cuba at the recent Punta del Este Conference, increased in 14 the number of hemisphere republics that have cut ties with the increasingly isolated Castro. Argentina's neighbor Uruguay may become the 15th to break with Havana.

Frondizi's government ordered Cuban diplomats to get out of the country within 48 hours.

Violence Expected

Officials immediately prepared for a possible outbreak of violence by arming pro-Castro leftists.

The break enabled Frondizi to ease the worst military crisis confronting him since he took office more than three years ago.

The crisis was touched off by Argentina's refusal at the Punta del Este foreign ministers' conference to vote for a U.S. and majority-backed resolution ordering Cuba ousted from the inter-American family.

Last week the armed forces chiefs demanded that Frondizi sever relations with Cuba immediately and fire Foreign Minister Miguel Angel Canciano, who headed Argentina's delegation at the conference.

"Repercussions" Cited

A communique announcing the country's dramatic break with Cuba gave as the reason "repercussions" from the conference vote to expel the Castro regime from the Organization of American States (OAS).

There was no immediate word on the outcome of the military's demand for resignation of Canciano.

The break came as a blow to other members of the six-nation bloc that held firm at Punta del Este against ousting Cuba — Brazil, Mexico, Chile, Ecuador and Bolivia.

Protests over the stand, though most noticeable in Argentina, have arisen in each of the countries.

Artillery Duel Erupts In Laos

NAM THA, Laos (AP)—Laos' right-wing premier again turned down an invitation for cease-fire talks at rebel headquarters and pro-Communist forces broke a 48-hour fighting lull with a round of mortar fire Thursday that landed close to the Nam Tha governor's house.

The shot set off a lively duel between 120mm mortars of the rebel Pathet Lao and Communist forces and royal army howitzers, mortars and recoilless rifles.

During Thursday's action about 80 enemy soldiers made a probing attack against defense lines two miles to the east of this little valley town, which is the apex of a vital defense triangle for all northwest Laos.

In Bangkok, Defense Minister Gen. Thanom Kittikachorn of staunchly anti-Communist Thailand, told newsmen the Laos government cannot hold out much longer. He apparently referred to the defense of Nam Tha.

Gen. Thanom and Prime Minister Marshal Sarit Thanarat said they were considering sending troops to their northern border because they feared the fall of northwest Laos into Communist hands was imminent.

Jayne And Mickey After Rescue

Actress Jayne Mansfield is helped to the dock at Nassau, Bahamas, by her husband, Mickey Hargitay, after their rescue yesterday from Rose Island. They spent the night on the tiny coral rock atoll after their boat overturned. They were spotted by a Coast Guard plane. Miss Mansfield was hospitalized for treatment of shock and exposure. ## Kennedy School Aid Plea Falls On Deaf Ears

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy's latest plea for action on his general school aid bill failed to arouse any enthusiasm in the House Thursday.

And to make matters worse, his college aid bill suffered a setback when Republican objections to its scholarship program blocked, at least temporarily, efforts to compromise differences between the House and Senate versions.

Three times since Congress reconvened last month Kennedy has urged it to pass his bill to help the nation's public schools—in his State of the Union message, in a special education message, and in his news conference Wednesday.

The bill was buried in the House Rules Committee last year under a controversy over aid to parochial schools, and it is still there.

At his news conference Kennedy made a direct appeal to the House Education and Labor Committee to bring out a new bill if nothing can be done to rescue the original from the Rules Committee.

It is generally conceded that the old bill is beyond rescue, which leaves it up to the Education and Labor Committee if Kennedy's request is to be met.

Rep. Adam Clayton Powell, D-N.Y., chairman of the committee, remained unmoved by Kennedy's pleas.

"I don't want to see this committee bogged down in another long, bitter fight over a school bill, the way we were last year and I don't think the President does, either," Powell said.

"After all, he sent me seven other items in that education message and I'm sure he doesn't want me to put them all aside while we go through the school bill fight again."

Hubby Denies Jayne's Ordeal Publicity Stunt

NASSAU, Bahamas (AP)—A Richard Wells, 45, a fisherman, reported finding the overturned Mansfield boat. He and a companion righted it and towed it in to Nassau.

A minor mystery developed when it was noted the skis and tow ropes were missing, but researchers said they disappeared in the struggle that overturned the boat or when the two men righted it.

Upon their return to Nassau, Miss Mansfield was hospitalized for shock, rock cuts, exposure, and numerous sand fleas and mosquito bites. Hargitay was treated for a cut leg. Drury, who moved to Fort Lauderdale from South Orange, N.J., last year, was uninjured.

Hargitay said he attended the news conference only because he had heard talk that the disappearance was a publicity stunt.

President Given Boy Scout Mile Swim Certificate

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Boy Scouts gave President Kennedy their "mile swim" certificate Thursday in recognition of his heroic experiences after his PT boat was rammed into by a Japanese destroyer in World War II.

Kennedy, whose 3 1/2 mile swim to shore through enemy waters in 1943 was even more perilous because he towed a crewman with him, burst into laughter as he read aloud.

"This is to certify that John Fitzgerald Kennedy swam a full mile under safe conditions and has qualified for the 'Mile Swim BSA.'"

Nixon Praises Bob Kennedy

NEW YORK (AP)—Former Vice President Richard M. Nixon Thursday night praised Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy as "a tough-minded, intelligent" man who has many qualities of leadership in foreign policy.

However, the former Republican candidate for president told a nationwide NBC-TV audience on the Jack Paar Show that the President's brother would need more experience before assuming such responsibilities.

"In looking at Robert Kennedy, you have a man who, except for lack of experience which he is now gaining, has many qualities of leadership in foreign policy," Nixon said.

"He is tough-minded, intelligent and has the will to win," Nixon added after commenting that numerous published reports have indicated the attorney general was sent on his present worldwide tour to prepare him for a foreign policy post—possibly secretary of state.

Senate Muzzle Probers Yield To JFK's Order

WASHINGTON (AP)—Invoking executive privilege, President Kennedy forbade Pentagon or State Department witnesses to tell a Senate subcommittee who censored specific speeches by military men. The senators quickly gave up their demand for the names.

Only Sen. Strom Thurmond, D-S.C., protested when Chairman John Stennis, D-Miss., ruled "I am convinced this executive plea applies and the chair sustains it."

However, Thurmond did not ask for a subcommittee vote on the ruling, which he could have done. Stennis had been insisting on the senators' right to the names up to the moment when Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara read to the subcommittee Kennedy's letter Thursday ordering him not to let Pentagon witnesses provide them.

Kennedy cited the doctrine of executive privilege which he said had been established by his predecessors from George Washington to Dwight D. Eisenhower in keeping with the separation of the three branches of government.

"I have concluded that it would be contrary to the public interest to make available any information which would enable the subcommittee to identify and hold accountable any individual with respect to any particular speech that he has reviewed," the President wrote.

Both Defense and State departments were included in Kennedy's order because witnesses from both agencies are being called in the inquiry. Censors from both departments review speeches by military men dealing with foreign policy.

In brief, the doctrine of executive privilege holds that the executive department in some cases has a right to keep secret from Congress information on its internal operations.

Thurmond's charges that Pentagon censorship has muzzled military men who want to make anti-Communist utterances set off the inquiry.

U.S. Sets Off Nuclear Device Underground

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States detonated a nuclear device underground Thursday at its Nevada test site.

The Atomic Energy Commission announced the test was of low yield — meaning an explosion with lesser force than that from detonation of 20,000 tons of TNT.

The test was the 12th which has been announced since the United States resumed nuclear testing.

New Satellite Taking Good Cloud Photos

Tiros IV Pictures May Play Big Role In Glenn's Flight

WASHINGTON (AP)—A new weather satellite, Tiros IV, shot into orbit around the earth Thursday and immediately started taking excellent quality pictures of the clouds 500 miles below it.

Within a few days, cloud photographs from the new satellite may play a significant role in plans for the recovery of astronaut John H. Glenn Jr., from the first Project Mercury manned orbital flight.

One of the two cameras in the drum-shaped, 285-pound satellite was equipped with an improved lens to reduce distortion and provide greater detail.

Detail "Really Good"

Some of the first pictures showed a tremendous cloud coverage over North America, with what space agency officials called "really good" detail in the clouds. Other films showed the outline of the Great Lakes.

Pictures taken on the second orbit provided a clear shot of the clouds over Iowa, Wisconsin, Illinois and Michigan, southern Canada, Nova Scotia and the North Atlantic.

Film on the first orbit covered an area "probably a little bit further east," said Dr. Morris Tepper, director of meteorological systems for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

Tiros IV was launched at 7:43:06 a.m. Eastern Standard Time from Cape Canaveral, Fla.

The pictures transmitted by the satellite were received at two primary stations—at Wallops Island, Va., and Point Mugu, Calif.—and at a backup station operated by Radio Corp. of America at Princeton, N.J.

Photos Analyzed

At both primary stations, Weather Bureau teams were on hand to analyze the most immediately useful photographic data. Starting Friday, the Weather Bureau will employ Tiros IV data in its own weather forecasting work, and will make public pictures of particular interest.

As for the forthcoming orbital attempt by Glenn—now planned for the middle or latter part of next week—Tepper said Tiros IV could well play a significant role if something went wrong and the astronaut landed far from the planned recovery areas.

Tepper said he doubted that Tiros would have any critical part in forecasting weather for the normal recovery areas in the Atlantic, Bermuda and Puerto Rico—for the space shot.

Deluge Brings Floods To Calif.

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Up to four inches of rain walloped Southern California areas Thursday. It flooded homes, streets and cars, crippled traffic, closed schools and swept a schoolboy to death in a flood control channel.

A landslide buried a car on U.S. Highway 101 at Coral Beach, north of Santa Monica. The driver suffered severe injuries.

Landslides blocked 101 and at least two other highways. Mud crept down Bel-Air slopes denuded by last November's multimillion-dollar fire.

Firemen evacuated five homes and a number of swamped automobiles in the sodden South Bay area. Mayor William Suppe of Manhattan Beach got permission to use National Guard troops if it becomes necessary to evacuate low-lying homes in his community.

The 40-foot schooner Adventure radioed it was lost in fog and rain 14 miles off Point Dume. A Coast Guard patrol boat went after it.

The 6,100-ton freighter Chickasaw, sailing from Japan to Los Angeles, ran aground on Santa Rosa Island, 30 miles off Santa Barbara, during a blinding rain Wednesday night.

Forecasters said perhaps an inch more rain would fall Friday.

West Makes Bid For Disarm Talk

Ministers' Parley Suggested To "K"; Summit Is Hinted

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy and British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan announced Thursday a bid to Soviet Premier Khrushchev for a foreign ministers' meeting on disarmament and hinted at a summit meeting to follow.

They announced also British permission for U.S. in-the-air nuclear tests at Christmas Island in the Pacific Ocean, and U.S. permission for a British underground test in Nevada.

The announcement, made simultaneously at the White House and by Macmillan before the House of Commons, shaped up as a joint U.S.-British strategy aimed at:

1. Probing Soviet intentions once again for an agreement on halting the arms race.

A-Test Decision Due Soon

2. Focusing world attention on the U.S.-British disarmament effort, rather than on their preparations for a new round of nuclear testing.

3. Quieting domestic critics, particularly in Britain, of the new Western atomic tests.

U.S. authorities said that regardless of whether the Soviet Union agrees to a foreign ministers' get-together, Kennedy would decide soon on security grounds whether to go ahead with atmospheric tests.

He has indicated he believes renewed U.S. atmospheric testing is necessary because of Soviet weapons advances since breaking the test moratorium last September.

Counterproposal Expected

There is little expectation here that Khrushchev will go along outright with the Kennedy-Macmillan suggestion that the U.S., British and Soviet foreign ministers convene ahead of the 18-nation general disarmament conference opening at Geneva March 14. It was speculated that Moscow would respond with some counterproposal aimed at jockeying for propaganda advantage.

The United States and Britain declared their deep concern "for the future of mankind if a halt cannot be called to the nuclear arms race." They resolved to make "a supreme effort" at the Geneva conference to "move away from this sterile contest."

It was in this connection that the Kennedy-Macmillan statement suggested a possible summit meeting, if that should seem worthwhile.

Studebaker Labor Dispute Settled

WASHINGTON (AP)—Settlement of a labor dispute involving 6,200 employees of the Studebaker-Packard Corp. in South Bend, Ind., was announced Thursday after an 11-hour session with federal mediators.

The conference between Walter P. Reuther, president of the United Auto Workers Union, and Sherwood H. Egbert, president of Studebaker-Packard, was arranged by Secretary of Labor Arthur J. Goldberg.

Reuther and Egbert said they had agreed on all issues in dispute and hoped the union members would be back at work Monday after passing on the settlement terms. Details of the agreement were not announced.

Kennedys Put On Skating Exhibition For Japanese

TOKYO, Friday (UPI)—U. S. Attorney General Robert Kennedy took the new frontier to a skating rink today.

The sports-minded Kennedy left at the crack of dawn to watch an exhibition of Aikido, a form of Japanese self-defense and then put on an exhibition of his own at the Korakuen Ice Palace.

He shied away from participating in the Aikido exhibition after watching the Japanese experts toss a big American newsmen and Kennedy's Justice Department aide, John Seigenthaler, around with ease.

"I'll take your word for it," the President's brother said as one of the instructors attempted to show him how to throw a man by the flip of a wrist. "I saw it. I'm convinced."

Kennedy and his wife made a tremendous hit as they glided around the indoor skating rink at Korakuen Ice Palace with workers from the Ricoh Camera Company.

After skating for about 20 minutes on a new pair of skates presented to him at the rink, Kennedy said, "it was really great. I certainly enjoyed it."

Kennedy first skated around the rink holding his wife's hand. He then skated holding the hands of various workers, both young men and women. His wife did the same with other employees.

Occasionally Kennedy would skate a short distance alone and do a small whirl-about to the delight of the several hundred skaters and spectators.

As he left the skating rink he was given an enthusiastic ovation.

As Red Mobs Battle Police

83 Demonstrators Jailed; Government Warns Of Anarchy

(Picture on Page 2)

PARIS (AP)—A massive Communist demonstration against the rightist Secret Army Organization's terrorist policies on Algeria erupted into wild rioting in the historic Place de la Bastille Thursday night, plunging France a step closer to anarchy.

Eight persons were killed and more than 200 injured in three hours of spreading battles between club-swinging police and stone-hurling leftists.

The dead included three women, a 15-year-old boy and a man, all of them French.

Interior Minister Roger Frey told reporters in his office that the demonstration-riot had been directed by the Communist party, and he added:

"Rarely have such well organized hands of rioters attacked the security forces."

As the fighting raged, the Secret Army's plastic bombs, which have plagued the capital for months, exploded in scattered sections of Paris.

The deeply troubled French government issued an urgent appeal for order and warned against anarchy.

Investigation Launched

The rally was staged in defiance of government orders banning public demonstrations.

Police said 83 demonstrators were arrested and jailed. An official investigation was ordered.

Fighting slackened off shortly before midnight and riot forces had the situation under control.

Through the night patrol squads continued to mop up in side-street skirmishes with die-hard holdouts. The police counted 140 wounded among their own forces in the battle to uphold the De Gaulle government against explosive attacks from left as well as right in the volatile atmosphere generated by the protracted Algerian crisis.

Resorting to a classic pattern of French rioting, the Reds ripped up paving blocks—an old favorite weapon for them—and hurled them in the swirling battles with charging security forces.

The fighting flared first in the Bastille area—scene of the start of the French Revolution in 1789—but quickly spread as mobs formed suddenly throughout the eastern end of the city.

At least 12 plastic bombs exploded during the clashes. The main targets were Communist publishing houses and offices.

Tass Building Damaged

The three-story building housing the Soviet news agency Tass was heavily damaged. A woman worker at one publishing firm was injured.

In France there is no legal ban on communism. The party, old and well-established, had drawn over five million votes in past national elections—in a country of 43 million people.

Thousands of Communists, joined by other leftists and students, massed in the Place de la Bastille.

The Red-led gathering was summoned to protest a wave of terrorist plastic bombings Wednesday that injured 11 persons. Police had blocked off side streets in an effort to halt the swelling mobs—but in vain.

The demonstration, among the worst to hit Paris in the course of the seven-year rebellion in Algeria, was an emotional outburst of the left against the right. And this time the Communists had more than average sympathy for their cause.

French Liner Arrives On Maiden Voyage

NEW YORK (UPI)—The world's newest, longest and perhaps last superliner the French Lines' France, arrived Thursday on its maiden voyage with a stow-away among the 1,728 passengers.

Some of the paying passengers had danced the twist while riding out one of the worst Atlantic storms in a decade.

The 1,035-foot, 11-deck liner, with two bow plates dented and a promenade deck window broken by the storm, was greeted by fireboats, whistles and brass band when it docked an hour late.

The stowaway was a 26-year-old Frenchman, Marc Tessier, who came aboard on a visitor's pass at Le Havre and was not discovered until the France was two days out. He said he wanted to visit his American girlfriend, but officials wouldn't let him off and said he would have to work for his passage home.

Viet Nam Command Assembly Hears Mental Hospital Expansion Plea

WASHINGTON (AP) — Under officials have insisted the Americans are only supporting the United States established Vietnamese, not fighting themselves.

However, Defense Department spokesmen acknowledged that creation of the operational command stresses that "we intend to win." As one source put it: "This is a war we can't afford to lose."

The number of U.S. Army, Navy, Air Force and Marine officers and men in South Viet Nam has grown to a reported 4,000.

Meat Dealer Enters Demo Governor Race

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—Lester Posner, a Baltimore County real estate man and meat dealer, joined in the Democratic race for governor Thursday "just to see if a man like me can be elected."

The 43-year-old Owens Mill man, a father of five children and grandfather of one, said he has no political background and no tie-up with any organization. He said he also has no financial backing for an election campaign.

"I've got nothing to lose and no political obligations to anyone," he said. "I would like to serve the people of Maryland with an open and clear mind."

Posner, a former basketball star at Baltimore City College and captain of its 1935 state championship team, said one thing he would bring to the office would be a strong physical fitness program for the state.

He said he also has "the wisdom of a grandfather and the youth and vitality of a youngster" to meet other problems facing the state. He said he would favor a teachers pay raise and a veterans bonus.

"It will be interesting to see if anyone who is unbiased and unprejudiced can achieve this ultimate goal and keep the Free State of Maryland free," Posner said.

He is entering a crowded field which already includes Gov. J. Millard Tawes, George P. Mahoney, David Hume, Morgan L. Amamo, William Carl Lehnert, J. Tyson Lee and Charles J. Luthardt Sr.

Watered Ham Edict Quashed

WASHINGTON (AP)—The U.S. Court of Appeals ruled Thursday that Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman went too far in ordering an "imitation ham" label put on smoked hams to which water has been added.

The court threw out Freeman's edict as "an enforced distortion of the truth" and said he would force meat packers into violating a statute which forbids misbranding.

The litigation could have been avoided easily, the court said, if the secretary had merely required that the hams have a label "showing the nature and extent of the added water."

"Capricious and arbitrary," was one way the court described the order.

The battle over watered hams has been going on between meat packers and consumer groups for a long time. The packers contend the addition of water improves the quality of the meat. The consumer groups contend purchasers are defrauded by the extra weight the water adds to the ham.

Assembly Hears Mental Hospital Expansion Plea

ANNAPOLIS (AP) — A prominent psychiatrist and a television actress pleaded the case for expansion of Maryland's mental hospital facilities Thursday.

Dr. William C. Menninger told a joint session of the General Assembly that the state's four mental hospitals were under-staffed and inadequately financed.

"The need is for brains before bricks," he said.

The Wichita, Kan., psychiatrist said a shortage of personnel in Maryland's mental hospitals permit staff doctors to devote only two hours a month to each patient.

"If it were your wife or husband or child, is this the kind of attention you would want them to have?" he asked the legislators.

Meanwhile, television actress Jayne Meadows told an audience of 700 that "the public's fear and suspicion of mental illness must be overcome."

Miss Meadows spoke on behalf of the National Association of Mental Health, of which she is co-chairman, to an audience in the Francis Scott Key Memorial Hall at St. John's College.

"This is the largest crowd I've faced since I opened at a Las Vegas night club last spring," Miss Meadows said. "I think it's a good indication of what Maryland is going to do."

Dr. Menninger, president of the pika, addressed the joint session at the invitation of Gov. Tawes.

The psychiatrist said in the state's four mental hospitals at the present time, there is one physician to every 78 patients which would mathematically allow two hours per month per patient of doctor-patient time.

He noted that budget increases proposed by Tawes would allow an addition of 380 more personnel, mainly in the nursing services.

"Over $500,000 of the proposed budget increase would go for the additional staff of the new 200-bed infirmary and the three 100-bed cottages at Spring Grove, a new spastics building at Rosewood and cafeterias at the Eastern Shore and Rosewood," Dr. Menninger said.

Dr. Menninger predicted that within two or three years, state legislatures must plan on raising the daily cost to a minimum of $10 to $15 per patient "if you are going to give the citizens of Maryland the kind of psychiatric treatment they should have."

Dog's Friendship Costs Man $14.20

RICHMOND, Va. (AP)—A Richmond man found Thursday that the price of friendship comes high, especially if it involves man's best friend.

The man, who wishes to remain anonymous, had been feeding an abandoned dog in his neighborhood. Last week the dog was picked up and taken to the dog pound because it lacked a collar.

The dog's best friend learned that to get the dog out of the pound he would have to pay $2.50 and sign as owner.

No sooner had he paid and signed than he was given two summonses, one because his new-acquired dog lacked an inoculation tag and another because it lacked a registration tag.

The dog was registered for $1, and then inoculated for $3. Thursday the man went to court and was fined $7.70 on the two charges.

Total cost of friendship: $14.20.

Driver Hurt As Bus Plows Into Truck

BAITIMORE (AP) — Robert Schramm, 32, of Philadelphia, the driver of a Greyhound bus that slammed into the rear of a tractor-trailer early Thursday, was reported in satisfactory condition at Johns Hopkins Hospital.

A hospital spokesman said Schramm suffered a broken leg and concussion in the accident.

Eight passengers on the bus were treated at Hopkins and released. Schramm was the only one admitted.

The accident occurred on a steep grade on U. S. 40 south of Aberdeen, police said. The tractor-trailer apparently was proceeding up the hill slowly when the bus struck it.

Reserve Callup Probe Ordered Probers Hit Air Agencies In Crash Of Recruit Plane

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Armed Services Committee ordered an inquiry Thursday into the callup of military Reserves in the Berlin crisis and current administration proposals to reduce the number of citizen soldiers.

Chairman Carl Vinson, D-Ga., said the investigation would start after Pentagon officials complete their current series of reports on the nation's military posture.

Vinson entrusted the inquiry to a subcommittee headed by Rep. F. Edward Hebert, D-La., who said in a statement that it will cover not only the "alleged deficiencies" in last year's partial mobilization but also every phase of present and future plans for the Reserves.

The CAB attributed the disaster to inadequate management by Imperial Airlines and poor operation by the crew. The CAB also held the possibility that some of the recruits might have lived had they been told about use of emergency exits to escape from the flaming cabin of the four-engine transport.

The three-man House committee headed by Rep. Porter Hardy, D-Va., noted that the supplemental air carrier had been under "extensive surveillance" during the 10 months prior to the accident and that Imperial itself had been subjected to 1,250 man-hours of inspection by the CAB and the FAA.

"These facts make it all the more difficult to understand why Imperial's certificate was not re-evaluated until Dec. 16," the committee declared. That date was five weeks after the disaster.

The committee added its belief that the extensive inspections should have provided ample reason for revocation prior to the crash.

Doctors' Day Will Be Observed March 29

The Doctors' Day observance plans were completed and a report of the nominating committee given at the meeting of the Allegany-Garrett County Medical Society Auxiliary board Wednesday. Mrs. Howard L. Tolson conducted the breakfast meeting at the home of Mrs. Carlton Brinsfield, Bedford Road.

A buffet dinner will be held on Doctors' Day, March 29. It will be at the Cumberland Country Club, followed by entertainment by the Scotch Highland Dancers.

Other observances will be the presentation of red carnations to all doctors of Cumberland, Oakland, Frostburg, Lonaconing and other towns in both counties. Mrs. Brinsfield was appointed chairman of the drug store displays; Mrs. Leland Ransom, for carnation decorations on cards for hospital patients' trays; Mrs. G. Overton Himmelwright, carnations for the doctors; Mrs. Tolson, flower decorations for the dinner; and Mrs. Robert Brodell, hospitality chairman, making dinner arrangements.

Mrs. Brinsfield was nominated for president, Mrs. Ransom, vice president, Mrs. William James remains treasurer, and Mrs. Brodell, secretary. The election will be in May with installation in June.

A report on the American Medical Educational Foundation was given by Mrs. Thomas Lewis. She announced that new kinds of cards are available, which can be sent for sympathy or appreciation with money donations for the medical school of one's choice through the AMEF.

Mrs. Tolson announced that she will attend the state board meeting in Baltimore February 26, and the meeting of the state nominating committee, of which she is a member. Mrs. Brinsfield will accompany her. An open board meeting of the bi-county group will be held March 14 at the Cumberland Country Club.

Reorganization Of Local Style Body Is Discussed

Members of the Allegany Unit Maryland Hairdressers Association, discussed the reorganization of the local style body at the meeting Monday evening at the YMCA. Mrs. Virginia Nave presided. James Rice presented his model which he will show in Baltimore at the governor's luncheon marking National Beauty Salon Week, February 11-17. His assignment of hairstyles from the 1600s to the present, is a 17th century Roman bride's hairdo. Mrs. Nave will serve as hostess for the luncheon February 12 at the Emerson Hotel. Miss Alberta Lindner will be hostess for the models and Mrs. Ruth Campbell and Mrs. Marian Davis also will attend.

Other activities for the observance were discussed and plans were formulated to visit the county infirmary. Announcement was made of a hair coloring clinic to be held February 26 at the Tri-State Beauty School, sponsored by the unit. The next general meeting will be March 12 at the Y.

Concluding the evening refreshments were served by Mrs. Nave and Miss Lindner, in keeping with the Valentine motif.

Woman To Woman

By PATRICIA MCCORMACK

NEW YORK (UPI) — Take time to jot down the cost of pain in the pocketbook when health care nibbles at your folding money.

It helps to take the headache out of income tax calculations, James R. Williams, manager of the Health Insurance Institute said in an interview.

The dividend in being orderly about your health care expenditures: You won't short-change yourself when making out your income tax.

What's more, Williams said an analysis of a record kept for the previous 12 months helps you to more accurately forecast the extent to which health care expenditures will eat into your cash in the next year.

Unless you can make such a forecast, your budgets wind up as shots in the dark or educated guesses. If they're too far off, you'll plunge into the red.

Institute economists recommended the following plan for meeting health costs:

—Do an annual accounting; base it on a record of your family's health care expenditures over a period of 12 months or longer — include a budget allocation that copes with expected costs, provides for adequate health insurance for the big bills, and also fattens an emergency fund for situations that may not be covered by health insurance.

The income tax gets into the act for this reason:

A record of health care expenditures is required if you elect to itemize deductions in this category on your income tax return.

Williams said you are allowed to deduct medical expenses only to the extent that they exceed 3 per cent of your gross income after the required one per cent of income write-off on drugs and medicines — if you have expenses for drugs and medicines.

If either taxpayer spouse is 65 years of age or over, the 3 per cent rule is waived for both. Medical expenses you pay for your mother-in-law or father-in-law — provided either is 65 or older — also may be claimed without a 3 per cent reduction.

Better than one out of three families in the United States elects to itemize expenditures on their federal income tax returns, according to Williams. He said more than half of these include deductions for medical and dental expenses.

Williams said the tax laws generally provide that people who itemize returns may list amounts spent for the prevention, cure, diagnosis, correction or treatment of a physical or mental defect or illness. This includes transportation if it is primarily for and essential to medical care.

Many of the items purchased for the family medicine chest — excluding toilet articles and cosmetics — are properly deductible within the limits of federal and state income tax laws by those who itemize returns.

The Internal Revenue Service has noted in its booklet — "Your Federal Income Tax," 1962 edition — that vitamins, iron supplements and other articles of that type "prescribed or recommended by your doctor" are medicines or drugs.

In your record keeping don't forget also that premiums paid on health insurance policies covering hospitalization, surgical and medical expenses are deductible items. Williams said you should keep a tally of the bills paid by health insurance also since compensated expenditures are not deductible.

Two More Men File For Circuit Judgeship

ANNAPOLIS (AP) — Stedman Prescott Jr. of Chevy Chase filed Wednesday for nomination to a new Montgomery County Circuit Court judgeship.

Prescott, defeated in a similar bid in 1960, filed by mail with the Secretary of State's Office.

Joseph M. Mathias of Kensington came to Annapolis Tuesday to file for the judgeship, which was created by the General Assembly and approved by the voters in 1960.

Plummer M. Shearin of Chevy Chase had filed previously for the post, which carries a 15-year term.

All three candidates filed to run in both the Democratic and Republican primaries, as is the custom with those seeking judicial office.

Hashemite is a family name connected with Jordan and it honors the loyalty of the original holder, disciple of Mohammed and the Guardian of Mecca.

Construction Rises

NEW YORK (UPI) — The heaviest weekly volume of new plant construction since June 1956 pushed heavy construction awards to $2.5 billion for the first six weeks of 1962, an 8 per cent gain over the similar 1961 period, Engineering News-Record reported Thursday.

Mass housing also spurred, pushing total private awards to $1.2 billion or 12 per cent ahead of 1961.

Nuns Launch Drive To Raise Funds For African Mission House

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — Sisters Mary Bernard and Mary Carmella between them earn $70 a year in their capacity as African missionaries. But they had their sights set high when they arrived here this week on a personal fund-raising drive.

The Roman Catholic nuns were hopeful of raising $300,000. They want to establish a mother house for their mission in New Ghana, Africa. They serve there as members of the Order of Lady of Good Counsel.

The sisters also hope to give youngsters 24 hours a day, caring for the sick and teaching of Good Counsel Home in Woods, Mass.

A visit to an American city of Canada, figures that by such was a far cry from their normal tireless work she and her fellow envoys. In New Ghandia they missionaries in the Dark Continent live in a primitive grass huts, work in a millet garden and approximately 6,000 adult Africans and 4,000 children each year.

At present, there are 168 missionary nuns in the New Ghandia area plus reinforcements in the form of 90 novices.

Sister Mary Bernard, a native of New Ghandia, said Sister Mary Carmella is an African herself and her missionary work is her way of helping her own people.

The $35 a year she and other teaching nuns receive usually is donated to a kitty for the care of children in the mission.

The average monthly pay for a worker in Africa is $8.

"You can see we are not a wealthy people as far as money goes," Sister Mary Bernard concluded.

Mishaps Cost Alabama Man Both His Arms

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — At 39, Ivo Livingston was an average sort of guy, like millions of other middle-income American fathers. His luck was not particularly good or bad—then.

His carpenter's job provided his family of six children some of the good things in life, and the future looked promising. That was in 1957. Things have changed.

Wednesday, Livingston — armless and marked from severe burns, cuts and bruises—lay in a hospital with the latest in a grim series of major injuries, and financial setbacks which began five years ago.

"But I never give up," he said. He hopes to get artificial limbs so he can work again and start paying off "about $7,000 in medical and hospital bills."

Tragedy struck first while he was walking across a railroad track. A victim of fainting spells, he blacked out and a train mangled his right arm. It had to be amputated just below the elbow.

In 1958, an explosion in his small furniture repair shop scorched his right leg. It was saved, but he spent five months in a wheelchair before returning to work, 18 to 20 hours a day, to keep his little business from going under.

Livingston narrowly escaped death three years ago when his truck plunged down a 75-foot embankment. Last year another truck was stolen.

Last Saturday, his left arm was sheared off when he slipped and fell into a bandsaw while working in his shop.

Alone and bleeding heavily, he threw himself desperately through a plate glass window to seek medical attention. The key to the locked door was in his pocket.

Board Chairman Of Sears To Retire

CHICAGO (UPI) — Charles H. Kellstadt, board chairman and chief executive officer of Sears, Roebuck & Co., Wednesday announced plans to retire on May 14.

Kellstadt, who has reached the firm's retirement age of 65 for board chairmen, was elected to the post in May, 1960, after two years as company president.

He will stand for re-election to the Sears board at the annual stockholders meeting on May 14. Kellstadt also will become chairman of the board of trustees of the firm's savings and profit sharing pension fund.

The firm said directors will announce a nominee to succeed Kellstadt next Monday following a board meeting.

Youth, 18, Spared Chair

ALBANY, N.Y. (UPI) —An 18-year-old Puerto Rico-born youth escaped death in the electric chair Wednesday when Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller commuted to life his sentence for two New York City playground murders.

The governor's action means that Salvador (Cape Man) Agron, who had been scheduled for execution Feb. 15 in Sing Sing prison, could be paroled after 27 years providing he was allowed time off for good behavior.

In his cell, Agron, who had heard the news over a radio, took official notification calmly. Agron asked if he could write Rockefeller to thank him and let him know "I won't let him down."

The governor said in commuting the death sentence that he considered clemency recommendations from the prosecution and judge at Agron's trial "and all the

"Battle" Of Paris Couturiers Fails To Develop

By NORA W. MARTIN

PARIS (UPI) — The two boy wonders of Paris fashions are so busy raking in money they have no time to fight each other.

At the January spring fashions showings everyone watched for the "battle" between the 26-year-old, ascetic looking Yves St. Laurent, and Marc Boham, the brilliant young man who succeeded St. Laurent as chief designer for the House of Dior.

Not much of a battle developed; there were no angry words or sour grapes tossed in either direction.

Both young men had every reason to be satisfied. Buyers snatched up all Boham's models at an average price of $1,000 to $1,200, and St. Laurent's business manager said he sold his entire show collection of some 125 models for about the same price—to New York, Canadian and London firms.

In separate interviews neither

Bohan nor St. Laurent had anything unkind to say about the other. Bohan, when asked what he thought of St. Laurent's challenge, said:

"There always were and always will be many fashion designers in Paris and there will always be room on the fashion stage for new talent."

Speaking of his latest collection, Bohan said he was not out to make headlines, just good looking and comfortable clothes.

"A fashion creator," he said, "should neither revolutionize nor dictate a given style. I consider my spring styles an evolution rather than a complete change from the silhouette I designed last season. This spring I see fashions more supple and younger looking. The loose midriff and slightly dropped belts are easier to wear and cooler for spring and summer than the skirts and tight waists of last season."

Generalizing on fashions Bohan said he felt women "should not follow styles blindly."

"For a woman it takes a knowledge of her own figure and personality, almost a psychoanalysis, to know what style corresponds best to her as an individual," he said.

St. Laurent wouldn't talk about

Sales Drop Reported By Pittsburgh Plate

Net sales by Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company in 1961 were $602,722,000 or 4 per cent lower than sales of $627,965,000 reported for 1960. Net earnings after taxes for the year were $34,627,000 as compared with $47,631,000 in 1960. After giving effect to the 2 per cent stock dividend declared in 1961, earnings per share were $3.29 for 1961 as compared with $4.53 for 1960.

Following a meeting of the board of directors today, the firm announced a first quarter dividend of 55 cents per share, payable March 20 to shareholders of record February 23.

Wall Street Views

By JACK LEFLER

AP Business News Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market rally may have removed some of the gloom from the investment community but there still is an air of uncertainty.

So comments one analyst in evaluating a situation that has Wall Street experts at odds.

The opinion comes from John W. Edgerton of the brokerage firm Goodbody & Co., who does not consider the rally very impressive.

Internal strength has not been outstanding as measured by the total points gained by advancing issues compared with points lost by declining issues, he says.

But he finds it encouraging that the broad Standard & Poor's 425 stock index of industrials has held well above its September low while the Dow Jones average of 30 industrials penetrated its low made at the same time.

"This is not a time to become alarmed but is rather a time to look for buying opportunities in individual stocks, whether the averages make new lows or not," he says.

Edgerton is of the opinion that some of the uncertainty concerns federal financing.

He says much has been made of the $3.5 billion increase in the 1963 budget expenditures and that the budget has been called unrealistic because its surplus depends not only on tax increases but on a 10 per cent expansion in gross national product and a 20 per cent expansion in corporate profits before taxes.

"The past record suggests a deficit, especially since no allowance is made for extraordinary expenses which might be incurred in aiding areas beleaguered by the Communists," he adds.

"The estimated $56.5-billion corporate profits in 1962 would equal about 10 per cent of the gross national product, a relationship which has not been attained since 1956. Attainment of these profits will take some doing."

On the other hand, Joseph E. Granville of E. F. Hutton & Co. argues that the strong rally pattern remains fully intact and that the technical indications are so strong at this juncture it would be quite surprising to see any serious weakness come into the picture.

Expect Dip

DETROIT (UPI) — Automotive News said Thursday car output in the U.S. this week will dip to an estimated 128,861 units, 6.9 per cent below last week's production of 138,409 autos.

But the trade publication said this week's output will be 46.2 per cent higher than the corresponding week of last year when 88,134 autos were assembled.

Business Tabs

NEW YORK (UPI)—Shipments of finished steel products by the nation's mills last year totaled 66,125,605 tons, down 7.1 per cent from the 71,149,218 tons shipped in 1960, final figures of the American Iron and Steel Institute showed Wednesday.

POMONA, Calif. (UPI)—General Dynamics of Pomona, Calif., has been awarded a $1,125,000 contract for continued development on the Redeye surface-to-air guided missile. General Dynamics estimated that the work on the infrared, shoulder-fired missile would provide continued employment for 250 workers at the Pomona facility.

HAWTHORNE, Calif. (UPI)—A new four-division electronics company, El-Tek, Inc., has been formed, firm president Dr. M. E. Salveson announced. Salveson, a pioneer in information technologies, said current contracts total $250,000 and an additional $900,000 in sales are projected for 1962.

TULSA, Okla. (UPI)—Oklahoma led the nation in last week's drop in crude oil production, according to the Oil and Gas Journal. The nation's production averaged 7,402,332 barrels daily, down 13,773 barrels from the previous week. Oklahoma produced an average of 518,000 barrels daily, down 17,700 barrels from the week before.

Loadings Increase

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Revenue freight car loadings last week rose 10.3 per cent from its year earlier pace and were 3 per cent above the week before, the Association of American Railroads reported Thursday.

The marriage of Crown Prince Shoda last year was the first commoner in the history of the Akihito of Japan and Michiko wedding of a crown prince to a Japanese throne.

Lord Snowdon Takes Seat Feb. 28

LONDON (UPI) — Princess Margaret's husband, the earl of Snowdon, will formally take his seat in the House of Lords on Feb. 28, it was learned Wednesday.

Palace sources said Lord Snowdon, who was photographer Antony Armstrong-Jones before he married the princess, will be introduced into lords and will take his seat with other peers of the realm.

Traditionally, peers within the royal family are introduced into the House of Lords by royal dukes. It was thought that Snowdon will be introduced by the Duke of Gloucester, the queen's uncle, and possibly her cousin, the Duke of Kent.

By tradition, and in line with the royal family's custom of shunning politics, members of the royal family shy from an active part in debates in the House of Lords.

MARGARET SKITARELIC

Student Wins Science Award

Miss Margaret Skitarelic, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Benedict Skitarelic, Baltimore Pike, has been named winner of the Bausch and Lomb Science Award at Fort Hill High School.

As the top science student at Fort Hill, she will receive the Bausch and Lomb Honorary Science Award Medal at graduation.

She becomes eligible to compete for science scholarships sponsored annually by Bausch and Lomb, Inc., at the University of Rochester.

Victor D. Heisey, Fort Hill principal, said the award is given to a senior at graduation who has demonstrated superior ability in science and has maintained a high scholastic average in the subject. The award — a bronze medal — will be presented during final exercises in June.

Miss Skitarelic is an honor student and has been accepted by West Virginia University where she plans to study medicine.

She became eligible for membership in the Fort Hill Chapter of the National Honor Society in her Junior year. She is presently editor of the feature page of the school newspaper, The Sentinel, and was selected to represent the school at the state writing tournament of the Maryland Scholastic Press Association last year. She has also been chosen to participate in the Columbia Scholastic Press Association Convention in New York City next month.

She has been an active member of the Junior Town Meeting group and helped plan and has participated in many discussion groups.

Attending Course
Samuel Wertheimer, representing Medical Arts Pharmacy, was selected to attend a course of instruction for fitters of scientific supports at the Hotel Sheraton Atlantic in New York City this week.

LaVale Firemen Concerned With Truck Brake Fires

The most trouble encountered by the LaVale Volunteer Fire Department during 1961 was the continuous problem of truck fires caused by overheated brakes.

This was the main point in the annual report of Fire Chief James Loar. Loar said the last brake fire occurred on December 1, but he feels in the future the number of these occurrences should decline.

LaVale is located at the bottom of a grade that extends westward 13 miles to the summit of Big Savage Mountain. The continuous downgrade results in many trucks relying on their brakes instead of gearing down, with the brakes catching fire as the vehicles go through LaVale.

Loar said letters have been sent to the safety directors of many trucking firms to combat the seriousness of the fires.

He pointed out that troopers based at the LaVale Barracks of State Police have been lending their cooperation to the drive by the firemen so that trouble can be averted before it arises.

During the year, 59 calls were answered with 21 of these being to trucks and cars.

The breakdown on the remainder is as follows: Private dwellings, 16; brush and field fires, 10; commercial buildings, 4; controlled burning, 2; Civil Defense alerts, two; false alarms, two; emergency transportation to hospital, one, and school, one.

In addition, the fire company was called out to help find a lost boy.

Total fire loss was $32,539, with the major portion of this being the fire that gutted the home of Dr. C. N. Foote New Year's morning 1961.

Total man hours spent on the 59 alarms came to 856; distance traveled, 520 miles, and average attendance, 15 men.

Fireman Vincent Self led the company in answering calls, serving on 43 of the 59 alarms.

Praise was given the firemen by Chief Loar for the alertness and manner in which they handled the different fires so that the loss could be kept at a minimum.

Since the last meeting, the company has answered one false alarm, one brush fire, one electric range fire which was out on arrival.

Buce Long III, chairman of the program committee, stated a meeting and buffet lunch will be held Sunday, February 11, at 2 p.m. for members.

Long stated that through the Vale area, which any fireman can cooperate of the University of furnish. They may also be obtain-Maryland, he was able to obtain by calling Zembower, PA 4-two films, "The Latest and Most 9214.

Modern Technique of Treating Various Types of Fires," and "Your Fire Department and What It Should Mean To You."

How the nation's retailers helped Americans build $121 billion in buying power

The store owners in your community are in a pretty good position to understand your needs and wants—and the importance of your saving for them.

At the start of World War II, they had a vital opportunity to stimulate saving—and at the same time help meet a dire need of their Nation—through the promotion of U.S. Savings Bonds.

Super Bond Salesmen

Few groups in America were as well qualified to promote Savings Bonds as the retailers. They sold over the counter, staged street rallies and parades, sponsored movie premieres, and used all their selling talents to get every citizen on the Bondwagon and help speed the Victory.

The job they did has paid big bonuses. Since 1941 Americans have invested $121 billion in Savings Bonds, spent $78 billion for the things they wanted as the Bonds matured, and are still holding a large $43 billion reserve as buying power for the future.

Bonds and your personal buying power

U.S. Savings Bonds are guaranteed by Uncle Sam to grow as much as 93%. This means that the $75 you put into a Series E Bond becomes $100 in 7½ years. Hold it 10 more years, and it becomes $145.

You can buy Savings Bonds at any bank, or on the "installment plan" where you work. And every Bond you buy is a share in a stronger America.

"Savings Bonds are business insurance for any community," says Alfred C. Thompson, President

National Retail Merchants Association

"As citizens, we retailers are proud of the part we have had in the 20-year success story of the U.S. Savings Bonds Program. As merchants, we are grateful for the rich reservoir of buying power the Program has provided for the business community—and the security it has provided for the Nation. We earnestly recommend that Americans keep buying and holding U.S. Savings Bonds."

Ann Landers . . .

Answers Your Problems

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Have you ever noticed the ads in newspapers which say "Housekeeper wanted. Must like children."

I answered such an ad three years ago. I'm up at the crack of dawn — cooking, cleaning, washing and ironing. And I "like" three young children from morning 'til night.

Their mother chases around to club meetings, beauty parlors, card games and what have you. Five nights a week the Mr. and Mrs. are out socializing. They take several trips a year and leave the children at home. At Christmas they were off on a cruise. I trimmed the tree and took the kids to their grandmother's for the day. It was the saddest, emptiest Christmas I ever saw.

Why don't some of these mothers "like children" enough to stay at home and spend some time with them? In my opinion, this is the curse of the rich—SEEING RED.

DEAR SEEING RED: Some mothers can't tolerate their children so they run away from them. This is not exclusively a "curse of the rich," however. The rich hire help, but the not-so-rich dump their kids on relatives, friends or just leave them unattended.

A mother's love is not negotiable. The woman who thinks she can pay someone to "like" her children learns later it's strictly a do-it-yourself project.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I'm 23, female, have a terrific job and I'm considered intelligent, attractive and good company.

I've been around more than my share and I know the ways of the world. I've dated mama's boys, egomaniacs, semi-alcoholics, bores, beatniks — the whole bit. Three months ago I met Mr. Marvelous. He's 26, well-employed and has all the qualities I ever dreamed of in a man. He says he loves me but he refuses to marry until he can give his wife all the comforts and a few of the luxuries of life.

I make almost as much money as he does. I'm not interested in luxuries. All I want is HIM. Please give me some fast pointers on how to land this gem.—THIS TIME IT'S REAL.

DEAR THIS TIME: If I knew of a sure way to help spring the trap, I wouldn't clue you. Males revel in the chase and they should not be denied the joys of the hunt.

The over-aggressive woman robs a man of his initiative, dampens his ardor and eventually scares him off.

Play it cool, Toots. Let him think he's chasing you — until you catch him.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I'm just an average guy, 29-years old, fair-looking, far from loaded, but comfortable. I want the companionship of an average-looking, respectable girl who can talk about something besides clothes and other women.

Please notice I didn't say anything about a wife. I've been engaged twice and both girls married someone else. All I want is a young woman who will settle for dinner and theater and just plain stimulating conversation.

Because of my two sad experiences with women the word is out that I'm not marriage-minded. Now, no girl will accept a date with me. If you like, I will send my picture.—LONESOME.

DEAR LONESOME: Don't bother to send your picture. It won't help. It's pretty hard to believe that all the girls want to marry you and no one will settle for a dinner and theater plus good, stimulating conversation.

In fact many girls who write to me would be very happy with just such an evening as you describe. And it makes me a little suspicious of you, Bub.

To learn the knack of feeling comfortable with the opposite sex, send for ANN LANDERS' booklet, "How To Be Date Bait," enclosing with your request 20 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD — The dream of Mike Todd's life was to make a motion picture of "Don Quixote" and he was working on it at the time of his death.

Now "Don Quixote" is ready to go again, and my typewriter almost buckled up typing the big names who penciled in Brigitte Bardot will play Dulcinea, Fernando will portray Sancho, with Martin Landau as Don Quixote—all of them signed. Charles Boyer and Anita Ekberg are being paged by Franco-Italia Production to play the duke and duchess.

Landau, who is in "Cleopatra" in Rome, will go right to Spain for "Don Quixote," which is set to roll May 13.

Kim Novak has accepted an invitation from the film industry in Moscow, and will visit Russia in March. She said she had cleared everything with the State Department, and she is the only actress invited.

Kim and I share a mysterious, unknown admirer who writes letters every day, sends gifts—which promptly go back, but she's one up on me. He sent her a marriage license. That brought us to the subject of marriage. Kim said she thinks it is ridiculous that a woman has to marry when she reaches a certain age.

"I have been accused of not knowing my own mind," she said. "I know it very well, and I have no intention of marrying anyone until I am sure it's right. There isn't anything that says you have to be in love. I am sure I will know when I am, and until then I won't marry even if I'm 80 years old."

Any girl that Alfred Hitchcock takes under his wing is shot with luck. He told me about "Tippi" Hedren, who will have the lead in his next motion picture "The Birds." She's blonde and beautiful, and he is going to train her as he did Joanna Moore, Vera Miles, and Grace Kelly, who made her first picture for Hitch.

He said he found "Tippi" in the commercials, (usually Hitch's favorite part of every show) and after extensive tests, he's sure the girl has what it takes. I always love talking to Hitch, who is my favorite weaver of weird mystery tales.

I was shocked and surprised when Erin O'Brien telephoned to tell me that she and her husband Jimmy Fitzgerald have been divorced for eight months.

"It's just a personal problem," she said, "and I hope we can work it out. We have longer than a year to wait for our final decree because Jimmy protested the divorce. He comes to see the children all the time. I knew you would be up-ec because you are so fond of Jimmy."

"I am fond of you, too," I told her.

Jimmy recently has gone into business packaging motion picture and TV productions with Chuck Connors and Ray Allen.

Charlton Heston, in Washington, D.C., to present one of the beautiful carved Spanish swords from "El Cid" to Vice President Lyndon Johnson at his home, almost leaped from his chair when the V.P. said casually, "would you

ABL Motor Is Used To Orbit Tiros

A rocket motor designed, developed and manufactured at Allegany Ballistics Laboratory was used as the final stage to place the Tiros-4 weather satellite in orbit yesterday.

The motor is ABL's remarkable X-248 Altair, which recorded its 43rd consecutive success at today's firing from Cape Canaveral.

The Tiros-4 was a 90-foot, three-stage Thor-Delta rocket that placed a 285-pound satellite into a circular orbit around the earth to photograph the earth's weather from nearly 500 miles in space.

Scientists at ABL said there is a "good likelihood" the new satellite will keep tabs on weather conditions for the orbital rocket flight of Astronaut John M. Glenn Jr., now tentatively set for next Wednesday.

The hatbox-shaped Tiros-4 is the fourth of seven experimental moonlets to pave the way for the world's first regularly operating family of weather stations in space, called "Nimbus."

Tiros stands for Television and Infra-Red Observation Satellite, according to spokesmen at ABL.

Officials at the Rocket Center, W. Va., facility said scientists and technicians there also are credited with all stages of a high altitude probe that was successfully conducted Wednesday from Wallops Island, Va.

The shot was made with a four-stage Argo D-4 rocket, commonly called the Javelin, with the final stage again being the Altair.

The Javelin is composed of an Honest John rocket, two Nike rockets and the X-248. The Nike and Honest John motors were designed and developed at ABL, although the Altair is the only one of the group manufactured locally.

Here's The Score On Sweet Breath

It's hard to hide halitosis behind a temporary cloud of scent. The only way to rout it permanently is to tackle the cause of disagreeable mouth odor. The most common cause is plain neglect of regular toothbrushing, particularly the nightly brushing.

Food particles that remain in the mouth and lodge themselves on and between the teeth are prime targets for bacterial action, especially while you sleep. During the waking hours, mouth cleanliness is helped "between brushings" by the ordinary routines of chewing, swallowing and drinking water. A sleeper's only defense "between brushings" is to make sure mouth and teeth are cleaned thoroughly at bedtime. Topping off this nighttime ritual with an antiseptic mouthwash rinse just may reduce the number of bacteria in the mouth . . . at any rate, rinses are useful flushing agents and do leave a pleasant taste and scent.

Any bad breath that can't be licked this way has internal origins that need either a doctor's investigation, or a degree of patient understanding, depending on the cause.

Severe disease in the mouth, nose or throat area can produce bad breath, which will not disappear until the infection clears. Then, too, some women may be prone to mouth odor for several days preceding menstruation. This physical phenomenon, probably a metabolic quirk, doesn't respond to oral hygiene, but will cure itself in its own time.

That definitely aromatic odor from certain foods and beverages is the kind that requires mental,

Irons Mountain Home Burned

The home of an Irons Mountain family was badly damaged yesterday when fire broke out in their one-story frame dwelling about 8 a.m.

Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Hubbard and their four school-age children were left temporarily homeless when the blaze, extinguished by firemen from the Baltimore Pike Volunteer Fire Company, burned a four-foot wide hole in the roof of the house.

The dwelling is owned by Consolidated Orchard Company, on whose land it is situated.

Baltimore Pike firemen and volunteer helpers from the orchard saved all of the Hubbard's furniture by carrying it from the burning building, it was reported.

A neighbor discovered the fire and notified the Baltimore Pike company, which alerted District 16 Fire Company. The latter outfit, however, was turned back by radio message when Baltimore Pike arrived at the scene and discovered its six volunteers and truck could handle the situation.

Firemen blamed the blaze on an overheated flue, which, they said, apparently ignited a partition.

The fire company was at the scene over two hours.

W.Va. Power Station Road Work Contract Is Awarded

The West Virginia State Roads Commission Tuesday awarded a contract to construct an access road into the Mt. Storm Power Station to Elvin C. Riggelman of Moorefield.

An emergency project, this work is to be started immediately, it was announced yesterday by the district SRC office at Keyser.

SRC officials will meet Tuesday with contractor's representatives to proceed with construction details.

The road is designated 50/3 in the Grant County secondary system and the work to be undertaken will be from Bismarck to the site of a dam.

The dam, which will be constructed by the George F. Hazelwood Company, will back up a 1,200-acre reservoir to furnish cooling water for the power station.

About 1,500 cubic yards of material will be required for its construction.

This new road will connect the paved section of 42/1 which leads off State Route 42 that connects Mt. Storm with Petersburg.

The project calls for grading, draining, traffic bound base course and asphaltic concrete bottom and wearing course.

The Virginia Electric and Power Company has been granted eminent domain rights by the 1962 West Virginia Legislature for the construction of roadways for its huge trucks that will haul coal to the power station.

West Virginia Legislature On Overtime Basis

Deadlock Over Budget Develops

By JERRY GOULD
CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—Unresolved House-Senate differences over the budget bill — described by a veteran lawmaker as "the most serious I've ever seen in 18 years here" — sent the West Virginia Legislature into overtime Thursday night.

Senate Finance Chairman Hans McCourt said the deadlock over a wide variety of items might keep the Legislature here until Saturday or even longer.

The 30-day budget session was originally scheduled to end by midnight Thursday. An additional five days, during which action must be confined to the budget bill, is available under an extension ordered Monday by Gov. W. W. Barron in line with a constitutional requirement.

Sen. Theodore M. Bower, R-Wetzel, who has served on several budget conference committees during 18 years in the Senate, said the dispute "could go on to Monday — and I'm prepared to do just that if I have to." It was Bowers who called the deadlock "the most serious I've ever seen."

These were reported to be the two main differences between the House and Senate versions of the budget bill, originally proposed by the Board of Public Works (BPW) to call for spending $14.3 million during 1962-63.

Split On Education

— Both chambers wanted to increase funds for higher education institutions by $1.4 million over BPW figures, but the House proposed to do it by slashing other appropriations, the Senate largely by getting the BPW to increase its revenue estimates for the coming fiscal year.

— The House proposed to appropriate only $141.26 million, slightly less than BPW recommendations, the Senate's total was $143.9.

Agreement was reached early Thursday, however, on one major conflict between the House and Senate budgets — a recommended $1.3 million for continuation of the Medical Assistance for the Aged (MAA) program during 1962-63.

Adding to the deadlock was the presence of a third party to the dispute — the Board of Public Works.

On Wednesday and again Thursday, the conferees asked the Board to indicate how much it might be prepared to hike revenue estimates—a function which comes under the exclusive control of the Board.

BPW Holds Firm

At both meetings, board members led by Governor Barron told the lawmakers to first settle their own differences and then ask for a higher estimate if needed to balance the budget.

A board member said BPW members "aren't inclined to say, for example, that we're ready to give them an extra million dollars — then have them go back upstairs and spread it out any way they want."

The budget conferees met briefly Thursday morning, then conferred with Barron and other Board members for more than an hour without getting even close to agreement. Following separate meetings of the five House and five Senate conferees, the full committee resumed deliberations at 3 p.m.

Although there was no hope for adjournment Thursday night, BPW members remained in the Statehouse on a "standby" basis to confer with the conferees if asked to.

Presbyterian Troop Gets New Charter

Scouts Honored As Troop 13 Gets Charter

Boy Scout Troop 13, sponsored by the First Presbyterian Church here, received its 34th charter renewal Tuesday night, presented by F. Theodore Bell of the extension and organization committee of the Nemacolin District, to Albert Tosh, institutional representative.

On the same night, James McGee, scoutmaster, invested William Griffin, Michael Griffin, Donald Norris and Michael Northcraft into the troop. James Stein, advancement committee man, then presented first class insignia to Steven Day, Donald Miller and Richard Weisenmiller.

Melvin Dean, assistant scoutmaster, awarded James Avirett the star scout pin. Albert Cedel, committee chairman, presented the reading, swimming and music merit badges to Jerry Derryberry and the home repair merit badge to Arthur Witt.

Finally, Rev. Emil G. Teyssier, assistant pastor, explained the exacting requirement for the God and country award. Next Sunday, which will be observed as Scout Sunday, these will be presented to Alexander and Christopher Little during the worship service at the Presbyterian Church.

Mr. Tosh then introduced members of the troop committee, headed by Mr. Cedel. Others are James Stein, advancement; John Derryberry, Herbert Witt, camping and activities; Willard Miller, secretary, and William Northcraft, alternate.

During the snack session, parents and adult scouters discussed informally the goals of the troop for 1962. Plans for a spaghetti dinner were made. The proceeds will be applied to maintenance of the church scout camping area.

Principals Study Basic Aspects Of Intelligence

Allegany County's public high school principals studied some of the basic aspects of intelligence Mr. Beable said, are spatial interpretation, comprehension, word fluency, memory and inductive reasoning.

Tuesday's discussion was stimulated by the fact that third, sixth, ninth and eleventh graders have just undergone a series of intelligence and achievement tests, according to Mr. Rizer.

These tests were designed to measure reading, mathematics and language ability of students. In preparation for the discussion, the principals read much reference material, including a volume by Gaston Vaud entitled "Intelligence — Its Evolution and Forms."

Mr. McVicker noted that psychologists divide intelligence into two types, conceptual and practical. All people have some of both types and the degree to which they have the two types determines whether they primarily are thinkers or doers.

What About Tests? "To what extent do intelligence tests measure potential ability and what are some of the internal and external factors that may distort the final evaluation?" This question was discussed by Paulers: Miss Ruth C. McColly, supervisor of home economics; J.

Mismanagement of intermediate cards early in the play cost declarer a game contract in today's hand.

Note South's response of two clubs. Some players follow the practice of making an automatic one over one response whenever able to do so, in a major suit, a practice which does not meet with the approval of this department. With a hand that is the equivalent of an opening bid, South is justified in showing both suits in logical order. North found the rebid awkward. Fancying that one of his hearts was a little diamond, he rebid diamonds to denote a minimum hand.

The four of hearts was opened. The five was casually played from the dummy and the hand was lost there and then. East played the eight and South the nine. Declarer crossed to dummy with a diamond to put thru the jack of clubs. This went to West's queen and the king of hearts came forth, followed by the queen. This established the hearts while the ace of clubs was still adversely held, and declarer was down one.

Proper play would have yielded declarer three heart stoppers instead of two. The play of the ten at trick one would have produced that result. Under the rule of 11 it is determined that East has only one heart to beat the four. That one might be the seven, the eight, or an honor. If it is an honor the play of the ten will still afford declarer three stoppers but, if it is the seven or eight, declarer will be held to only two stoppers if he plays the ten at trick one.

America Is First At Last

It seems almost like old times when Americans can brag that this country is chalking up a new batch of "firsts." Not that "firsts" are in themselves important, but it shows that native ingenuity hasn't succumbed to the periodic waves of pessimism about our ability to hold our own against the Communist system.

The Atomic Energy Commission provides the new honors list. We've put the first atomic-powered batteries into space. We've launched the first two atom-powered warships and are ready to turn the switch on the first atomic-powered merchant ship. No one has challenged our claim of being first with the atomic submarine that launches missiles from underwater.

As a peace-loving nation, the "firsts" that please us most, of course, are such as the atomic-powered weather station in the arctic and the atomic-powered navigational buoy now on trial in Curtis Bay, near Baltimore. Not yet a "first," but possibly on the way, is a nuclear propulsion system for space vehicles, the advantages of which are obvious.

Conceded, the Atomic Energy Commission is never shy about tooting its own horn — a normal bit of behavior for government agencies that live on Congressional appropriations. But there is a great deal in this year's report for Americans to be pleased about.

And when the Kremlin counters with the usual wail that it had achieved these things in 1870 or thereabouts, Americans will have the satisfaction of having been first with the announcement, and the larger satisfaction of knowing that all these awesome developments are only the beginning.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

Russian Capitalism

During 1961, Soviet Russia played an interesting and to an extent startling role in the gold market. While some American bankers have permitted themselves the luxury of denouncing the significance of gold in the economy of the world, gold has nevertheless played a most significant role and the role that Russian gold played was not ignored by business in other countries.

The economy of the United States is based on gold and no matter what efforts are made to lessen the significance of gold, it stands up in the world market. The United States Government sought to maintain gold at the official price of $35 but gold moved up and down, to a degree due to the appearance of Russian sales. Thus, Russia operated capitalistically in the gold market. During the year 1961, considerable gold was sold through the London market, thus distributing gold to some of the new countries as well as the older ones. The gold trade has been considerable and London maintained a gold exchange although in the United States we attempted to ignore the commodity.

It is interesting to note that the London market received 20,804,600 ounces of refined gold from the United States; 19,505,950 ounces of refined gold from the Union of South Africa; and 5,541,450 ounces of refined gold from Soviet Russia. The total amount of refined gold that was imported into the London market amounted to 46,710,400 ounces with Soviet Russia in the third place. This gives Soviet Russia an important position in the world market. The value of the Russian export into the British market was close to $200,000,000, which gives Russia an enormous purchasing power in the Western markets.

This export of gold to London cannot be exclusive; there must have been an export to Zurich and Amsterdam. It is this gold which has made it possible for Soviet Russia to buy steel pipe which will become increasingly significant as the Russians build pipelines to carry oil into Central and Western Europe. This is likely to develop into a very important business in which American firms are engaged.

It is impossible to understand the politics of the world without a thorough mastery of its economics. Russia is utilizing capitalist methods everywhere. What the Soviet Universal State presents now is a capitalist competitor with Western countries, battling for the rich markets of Central and Western Europe, as well as the American markets from Canada to the Argentine. It is this economic realism which affects the position not only of money but of goods and the power of Soviet Russia must be measured in terms of economic distribution, particularly the distribution of gold. It is to be admitted that there are many Communists of importance, like Suvlov who regard Khrushchev's neo-capitalism as dangerous because it can lessen the significance of Marxism. There will be a great quarrel in Russia over this question of co-existence.

Those who ignore the significance of gold in the world market only create confusion. They are as confused in their thinking as those who believe that it is possible to ignore tariffs, while tariffs exist. The question must arise as to whether Russia will dump gold into Western markets at prices which will drive the price of gold below $35, thus impoverishing the United States and all Western countries by running down the price of currency which internationally is determined by the value of gold. Russia's production may be priced politically rather than economically.

Those who believe that Soviet Russia seeks to destroy the capitalist world by force and violence do not understand the world in which they live. More can be done with gold than with violence; more can be done with the erection of steel mills, using American money for that purpose, than by agitational efforts in the United States. Soviet Russia is using every capitalist tool for the destruction of capitalism as a method, including American, British, German and other Western bankers and manufacturers who become dupes in the Russian effort to destroy them by the use of their own tools. Capitalists are naturally avaricious, seeking a profit quickly and leaving to the future whatever happens. The Russians take advantage of that characteristic which serves them well.

It is a correct statement that Communism will employ any means, good or bad, correct or evil, to gain its point which is the conquest of the entire world by the Soviet Universal State.

JFK Puts Pressure On GOP For Medical Care

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON

The growing Republican concern about medical care for the aged is the most interesting political development of the new Congressional session. It proves that President Kennedy has a strong instinct for old-fashioned gut-politics.

Last year, the President's bill to provide medical care for older people under the Social Security system was blocked in the House with the greatest ease. This year, the session opened with a seemingly solid majority in the House Ways and Means Committee still opposed to the bill. Thus there seemed to be little chance to get a record vote, which was the minimum goal set by the President.

But the situation in the House by no means reflected the situation in the country, as described by professional opinion testers. The President's pollster, Lou Harris, has consistently reported strong and growing national support for the medical care bill.

The last test by Harris is said to have shown no less than 70 per cent of the electorate in favor of this measure, which is important, of course, not only to older people, but also to young and middle-aged people who have to help older relatives with their medical bills. The inquiring Dr. Gallup has also found strong popular backing for the medical care bill. If the pollsters are right, in short, this is the kind of pork chop issue on which votes are gained and lost.

The growing conviction that medical care is just an issue is the source of the Republicans' growing concern. State and local Republican leaders have been queried by the staff of the Republican National Committee; and their answers have made pretty glum reading for the party's Congressional leaders. They have said, in effect, that the medical care issue now threatens to cost the party seats in the House next November.

The fine Irish hand of the White House may be discerned, meanwhile in the rather effective effort to stir up even more widespread feeling about medical care for the aged. After the White House conference on old people's problems late last summer, a new organization was formed for this purpose, with the wonderful title of the National Committee of Senior Citizens for Health Care Through Social Security.

Dr. Blue Carstenson, who organized the White House conference, resigned from the Health, Education, and Welfare Department to serve as Chief Staff Officer of the National Committee of Senior Citizens. Former Rep. Aime Forand, original sponsor of the medical care bill, became head of the committee. By no coincidence at all, the committee is now organizing vociferous rallies of senior citizens in the home districts of members of Congress whose votes really matter, on the Ways and Means Committee, for example.

This pressure, plus the general Republican concern already noted, may well end by producing a result which formerly seemed quite out of the question — one or two vital Republican votes for the medical care bill on the Ways and Means Committee.

House Republican Leader Charles Halleck hopes to win the next

Congressional election on the Goldwater line. Although worry is spreading among his colleagues, Halleck can be expected to do his best to prevent any change of position by the Republican Ways and Means Committee members. But it now appears possible that he will fail. In this case the bill will be reported by the Committee, and the President will get the record vote he wants.

If the Committee still refuses to report the bill, moreover, the White House has other weapons in its armory. The most remarkable, petition supported by the President in person.

If this scheme is adopted, a petition to get the bill out of committee will be presented to the House with maximum publicity. The President himself will then take to the air, to tell the national television audience to urge Congress to get to work on medical care for the aged. And signatures for the petition will thereafter be publicly sought by Secretary of Health, Education, and Welfare Abraham Ribicoff.

Nothing is trickier and more unrewarding than the use of a discharge petition if the normal practice is followed. But this is a different kind of use. The aim is to make discharge petition a substitute for a record vote. If the scheme works, those who refuse to sign the petition will be in danger of attack by their election opponents, as proven, notorious enemies of the old folks.

In short, the medical care fight seems likely to provide a major demonstration of one of the President's chief traits as a politician. This is his habit of going all the way, whenever he thinks he is on to a good thing.

Story Of West Coast Underworld Locked In California Crime Files

By Drew Pearson

LOS ANGELES — Few Hollywood thrillers could match the story of money, muscles, and murder that is locked in the California crime files.

The raw reports, which this column has seen, tell of gangsters in pinstripes who have put crime on a business basis, of professional triggermen who kill by contract.

Murder has become more sophisticated since the tommygun terror of the roaring 'twenties. But manicured murder is still murder.

Organized crime was introduced to California in the 1930's by Bugsy Siegel who was sent by the New York-New Jersey racket bosses to open a branch office on the West Coast.

When he tried to double-cross them in 1947, he received some of their .45 calibre justice. Imported killers shattered a picture window and gunned him down as he lounged in a plush apartment that he had set up for his mistress.

The flamboyant "Bugs" was succeeded as California's crime czar by the dreaded Jack Dragna, who came to be called the "Capone of the coast."

Although he is now dead, the Dragna name is still feared in the California underworld. For his nephews, Frank Paul and Louis Tom, and a son, Frank Paul, have taken his place in the rackets.

The two Frank Paul Dragnas are known in the underworld as "One Eye" and "Two Eye." The son, who has a glass eye, is active in San Diego. The nephew keeps his two good eyes on the Dragna enterprises in the Los Angeles area.

Both "One Eye" and "Two Eye" have been schooled in violence, have been arrested but not convicted of "conspiracy to commit murder." The balding, bookish Louis Tom Dragna, who lives more quietly in West Covina with his wife and two adopted children, has been arrested only for bookmaking.

California Mafia

The top power in the California underworld today, however, is Frank De Simone, who previously had been the legal mouthpiece for the mob. He attended the 1957 crime convention at Apalachin, N. Y., according to the confidential files, "as head of the Mafia in the California area, succeeding the deceased Jack Dragna."

De Simone sometimes is called "One Eye" too, because of a defective right eye. His right eyelid droops, and a knife slash still scars his chin.

Despite his legal ability, he tripped over the law in 1960 and received a four-year sentence for "conspiracy to obstruct justice." However, this apparently hasn't lessened his underworld authority.

He is regarded as the real brains behind such notorious mobsters as sad-eyed Anthony Pimelli, who frequently flies in his private plane to the East Coast and Puerto Rico and is described in the crime files as "southern California's number one hoodlum"; bald, gray-fringed Simone Scoccari, who attended the Apalachin crime conference with De Simone; and stocky, stoic Nick Licata who was also a front man for the late Jack Dragna.

The reputed Mafia chief in the San Diego area is Paul Mirabile, who has taken over the criminal domain of his late brother, Tony Mirabile. Paola, as Paul is known among his Sicilian associates, is described in the confidential files as "a man of great influence in the California organization."

Undercovermen say his leadership may be challenged by the Matranga brothers: Joseph, "Big Frank," and Gaspare. With their cousins, they own several bars in downtown San Diego and dominate the rackets in the downtown area.

Their leader is the youngest — ruggedly handsome Joseph, who will be 40 next month. Gaspare, who has made at least two trips to their native Sicily, is described in the crime reports as "a professional assassin for the Mafia."

The kingpins of crime in the San Francisco Bay area are listed in the federal files as Joe Cerrito and Jimmy Lanza, who traveled together to the Apalachin crime convention. Sicilian-born, both have been operating behind legitimate business fronts.

Big Guns

The rule of the racket bosses, of course, is still enforced by hired killers. Most are known to lawmen and have been booked for their murders. But convictions have been almost impossible to get.

Here are California's most notorious gunmen and what the confidential crime reports say about them:

"Mr. Mike" Abati, San Francisco — "indicated for the Nick De John murder; has been involved in crimes of violence."

Vincent Barrisa, San Francisco — "named as 'gun' for the Mafia in the San Francisco area."

Abe Chalupowicz, San Francisco — "a onetime member of the Murder, Inc., mob in Brooklyn, N. Y."

Frank "the bombo bompensiero, San Diego — "is a Mafia killer and held in great fear by the underworld; suspect in three murders since 1938."

Jimmy Duardi, Vallejo — "is constantly in possession of loaded firearms and is alleged to be a vicious killer; being used by the Mafia in this respect."

Tony Lima, San Francisco — "a Mafia killer who is greatly feared by the Italian residents of the Stockton-Lodi, Calif., area; he specializes in extortion and fraud."

Alfred "Nuncio" Sica, Los Angeles — "an extortionist who acts as a 'muscle' for the Mafia in the Los Angeles area."

Joseph Sica, Los Angeles — "maintains organization through strongarm methods and extreme violence; is known as a killer; travels with bodyguard."

Federal agents are now digging into the compost pile of California crime in search of federal violations. Many top racketeers, rather than risk a federal rap, are taking to flight like so many startled quail.

The man who has thrown the scare into them is Attorney General Robert Kennedy. His crack-down on organized crime, known as Operation Big Squeeze is driving them out of business.

If the mobsters who flourish like bloated spiders on the profits of organized crime were to ape the FBI and publish their own list of Ten Most Wanted Men, there is no doubt whose picture would head it.

That of Attorney General Kennedy.

Jim Bishop: Reporter

By Jim Bishop

I, as anyone can tell you, am a mechanical wizard. There is nothing that I cannot do to a house, if I am left alone. Years ago, I had my own workbench and an assortment of hand tools gleaming in racks. My paintbrushes were the cleanest in the neighborhood. My home made coffeebats tilted a little, and knots showed through the top, but they were homemade.

Then someone took a look at a wiring job I had finished, and stole the tools and brushes and left a note, "Get the children out of here before the place blows up." Jealous. Still, it wrecked my morale. I was never the same. Today, I do nothing around the house except the smallest jobs. Like the oiling of the movie projector.

I have a 16 mm. Bell and Howell projector. It needed oil. There was a hole for this inside the top. So I got a can of 3-in-1 oil, but the can was too big, or the hole was too small. Anyway, I had to remove the ase and, in so doing, a small spring popped out. Who would know what it was for? I have springs in my head I haven't even used.

The projector was oiled. That's what I set out to do. The fact that I had to call Herb Meinert at Dorn's Photo Shop to repair the machine has nothing to do with it. What I said I'd do I did: oil. The rest is trivia.

It's getting so that a man can't change a fuse without enduring hysterical laughter from the family. Speaking of fuses, I had the entire house rewired for safety and put in fuses which do not have to be replaced. When they blow, they move to an off position. All I have to do is go into the cellar, stumble over a few golf bags, some old urns and an electric percolator which no longer perks, and switch the offending fuse back to the "on" position.

Still it is good for a man to know when a job is too big for him. The little girls said that the lights were out in their upstairs rooms. So Uncle Jim said "fear not", or some such heartening phrase, and went into the cellar to fix the fuse. All the fuses were in the "on" position. At once I knew that something must be very wrong. So I phoned Cy Woolley, the electrician, and asked him to make an emergency call.

He steamed up to the front door in his truck, with the overhead ladders, searchlights and assorted flashlights, and went upstairs to find out how lights could be out if the fuses were okay. He found out. "I located your trouble," he said. "The bulbs were burned out."

What man in his right mind would expect that two bulbs in two rooms would burn out simultaneously? Not this one. A few days later, by coincidence, a bar light flicked out. I never make the same mistake twice. So I got a bulb and screwed it in. The light remained out. I got on my hands and knees and traced every wire in the room.

So I called Cy again. He went to the cellar and came up in 30 seconds. "What's the trouble?" I said. "A fuse blew," he said. "It was in the 'off' position. So I put it back on."

All of this is exasperating to a genius who is occupied with lofty ideas. Who reinvented the airplane in 1933? Me. Who laid down the principles of radar in 1961? Me. Who predicted that there would be a lot of snow when he left for Florida last year? Me. Who can't find his wallet at the toll gate? That's another story.

Practically all of the items in this house are my ideas. You know any other house that has three walls? When I wanted to knotty pine this place, the workmen found two complete walls in every room. So I said: "Don't tear 'em down. Put the new one over the old ones. Makes the house stronger." I was right, as always. Of course, it also makes the walls thicker. Today, all our doors look as though they were stolen from bank vaults.

I had an oil burner and hot air system put into the house. In the stillness of night, the hot flues heat the cold timbers and they snap and creak as though all the ghosts were wearing snow shoes. Then I added a living room and an office. The man said that the old oil burner wasn't big enough to heat everything. Do you, perchance, know of any other house with two oil burners and two systems? Now we have hot air, and hot water.

We have so many switches that the children and I play a game, guessing what's going to happen when we press a dining room button. It is bound to be one of three things: either the toaster in the kitchen will pop, the Italian fountain on the lawn will spray blue water, or the dog will find himself on a chute sliding out into the backyard.

But why go on? I'm just exciting your envy.

Childhood Rituals May Become Obsessions

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

Many children have compulsive rituals. The lads who cannot step on the sidewalk or pass a picket fence without grabbing a stick and dragging it along the slots are good examples. These practices need not be taken seriously unless they begin at puberty and are associated with much anxiety and fear.

Obsessions are variable. Some victims are compelled to carry out certain acts that have no rime or reason. The kleptomaniac is compelled to steal even though he has no use for the stolen object. Others are obsessed with fears and doubts and still others ruminate constantly on religion, biology, sex, or other subjects.

Some are bothered to such an extent they cannot concentrate on their work because of unpleasant and strange thoughts. One middle-aged man was so obsessed with the importance of time he had to be doing something every minute of his waking life. He was occupied all day, either with thinking or acting, lest he lost a portion of it. Time, in his opinion should be saved as a valuable object.

Many obsessional acts have their own counter-obsession. The man mentioned—in his business—actually kept killing time in planning how to save it. Another felt compelled to pick up white stones in the road and throw them away. He was then compelled to find the stones and bury them.

With many, the behavior pattern harms no one except the victim. Illustrations can be found of persons being driven to perform a simple duty in a fashion bordering on a ritual. Some doubt the accuracy of all their calculations and must do them over and over again. Others must read the newspaper from the first word to the last. They follow a set routine in eating, sleeping, and bathing. It has to be done a certain way or undue anxiety or apprehension develops.

The cause of this form of psychosis is not known. The obsessional person is said to be suffering from a ceaseless attempt to repress a dreaded experience. Some help is derived from bringing this hidden memory into the open.

To prove what a smart gal Mike picked for his bride, there's the day they went to be married but didn't have a cent to pay the clergyman. "Sorry," said the latter, "but the fee in advance is necessary."

"Might you," suggested Mike's girl, "be givin' me leave to go get the money?" Permission granted, she sped off and soon returned with the cash. After the ceremony she asked, "No matter what you do now, this marriage is legal, isn't it?" "It certainly is," the clergyman assured her. "Then bless yer heart," said Mike's bride. ## Sen. Byrd Asks Funds For Lab

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Robert C. Byrd, D-W. Va., said Thursday that he would make a second attempt to procure funds for the construction of a watershed and forest management research laboratory at Parsons, Tucker County, W. Va.

Speaking on the floor of the Senate, Byrd said he was "disappointed to find that the money were not recommended in the fiscal 1963 budget submitted to Congress a few days ago."

Byrd said he will "attempt again to amend the bill when it is before the Senate Appropriations Committee this year to include money for this very worthy purpose."

"I am informed that an overall figure of $150,000 will be sufficient for the construction of the laboratory," he added.

Westernport Rejects Bids On Sewer Job

Revised Plans To Be Drawn

PIEDMONT — Four bids submitted for the construction of sewer lines, regulator chambers, force mains and pumping stations for the town were rejected at a meeting of the Mayor and Council.

Mayor Donald M. Mellor pointed out Tuesday night that the bids were rejected on the advice of Robert T. Register, engineering firm of Baltimore which prepared the plans.

The lowest bid was from the Palondo Corporation of Pittsburgh for $187,777.77 for Plan A and $148,777.77 for Plan B.

The mayor said the amount was too high for the town to meet as estimates amounted to $130,000. The company has been authorized to draw up another set of plans.

Other bidders were the George Construction Company, Cumberland Construction Company and Wilson Construction Company, all of Cumberland. Bond posted by all has been returned. New plans will be sent to each bidder.

The facility will be used to transport the town's sewage to the waste treatment plant of the Upper Potomac River Commission near Westernport. The plant was constructed for the principal use of the Luke plant of West Virginia Pulp and Paper. Westernport and Luke are using the facility.

Three council members were appointed by Mayor Mellor to make a study of the reorganization of the Police Department and make recommendations at the next meeting. They are Michael Lannon, John Dennison and Sebastian Barbarito.

The purchase of a feeder for soda ash for the town's filtration plant was authorized. It will be bought from Wallace-Tiernan Inc., Bellsville, N. J., for $1,054.

The town's new municipal building at the intersection of Second Street, facing Green Street, will be completed within the next few days. It will house the Police Department, town clerk's office, council chamber and a washroom.

Circle K Trustee Visits PSC

Plans for the West Virginia District Circle K Convention to be held May 13-14 on the campus of Alderson-Broaddus College in Philippi were discussed by Jennings Rhodes Marston, (left), Potomac State College, governor of the W. Va. District of Circle K International; William E. Michael, chairman of the West Virginia Kiwanis District Circle K committee; and William R. Fryar, international trustee of Circle K, who was visiting the Keyser campus from the University of Tennessee. Plans were also discussed for the formation of Circle K clubs at several other West Virginia colleges. The Potomac State Club, one of the oldest since the organization was formed, will celebrate its 10th anniversary on May 2.

One of the resolutions to be presented is from Denmark concerning the Berlin situation. It calls for reducing international tensions by internationalizing the city and patrolling it by UN troops, rather than by troops of the separate and rival Big Powers, who are holding it in simultaneous occupation at present.

A second of the Assembly's resolutions calls for democratizing the representation of the members in the UN by changing the basis from one vote per nation whatever the population to representation and vote in proportion to population, a 15 man delegation being maximum.

"Netherlands' problem here," stated Miss Sanders, "is somewhat similar to Maryland's when the United States changed from a 1-1 representation for each state under the Articles of Confederation to the two House Congress set up by the Constitution, with representation in the House of Representatives based on population."

The third resolution is being submitted by Nigeria, calling for the peaceful use of outer space, to be worked out by an International Law Commission and signed as an international treaty regarding non-military and scientific cooperation in the use of outer space.

Miss Sanders, though registered at the college from Baltimore, is a daughter of one of FSTC's recent graduates, Mrs. Wanda Sanders, who completed her work for a degree after her family was grown.

Among the 660 colleges and universities participating in the Model UN are Harvard, Yale, Princeton, West Point and Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

Dr. Howard L. Briggs, co-advisor of the club, assisted Dr. Ramsay in preparing the delegates for their role as the Netherlands.

Mt. Savage Tests Front-Running Bruce In Top WMI Battle Tonight

Campers Play Valley, Beall Hosts Ft. Hill

LaSalle To Visit Ridgeley; Keyser Seeks 12th In PVC

Mt. Savage High School, undefeated at home in three WMI League games, will test Bruce High School's pace-setting Bulldogs tonight in that circuit's feature attraction.

Coach John Thomas' Indians have beaten Allegany 64-62, Valley 57-55, and Fort Hill 69-68 on the Mt. Savage boards and they'll be out to muzzle the Bulldogs to night to atone for a 63-62 defeat at Westernport.

Mt. Savage owns a 3-4 league record and all of the losses were absorbed away from home — Bruce 63-62, Allegany 59-50 and Valley 60-45.

Like Mt. Savage, Bruce is also unbeaten at home in league play with a 4-0 record but Coach Leonard Ritchie's quint is 1-2 on the road with a 66-58 decision over Beall and losses at the hands of Fort Hill 52-51 and Valley 61-47.

Lead By One Game

The Westernport quint is leading the exciting WMI League race with a 5-2 record while Fort Hill, Allegany and Valley are tied at 4-3. Mt. Savage is 3-4 and Beall 1-6. Each team has three more games on its schedule with the season slated to draw to a close one week from tonight.

Bruce, a member of the league since 1924, never has won the championship.

Mt. Savage's overall record of 10-6 includes a 7-1 mark at home and 3-5 on the road. LaSalle is the only team to turn back the Indians at Mt. Savage. Bruce has reeled off four straight victories and is 13-3 for the season.

Bruce and Mt. Savage will collide for the 18th time. The Bulldogs lead in the series, 12 to 7, winning 7 of 10 at home and 5 of 9 at Mt. Savage.

Other WMI Contests

In other league action tonight, Fort Hill's Sentinels battle the Beall Mountaineers at Frostburg and Allegany's Campers tackle Valley High's Black Knights at Lonaconing.

Fort Hill beat Beall 57-49 in the opener here while Allegany downed Valley at Campbello, 47-43.

Allegany and Valley will be tangling in basketball for the 18th time. The Campers have whipped the Knights in eight of the nine games staged here but each team has won four games on the Lonaconing court.

LaSalle Shoots For No. 15

LaSalle goes after win No. 15 when it winds up its series with Ridgeley High's Blackhaws tonight at Ridgeley in a Potomac Valley Conference game. The Explorers play eight games in the Conference and they are now 5-0, including a 75-51 loss to LaSalle. Ridgeley is 6-10 in the P. V. C., including a 75-51 loss to LaSalle. The Explorers have knocked off Allegany Mt. Savage, Bayard and Bedford in their last four outings, are 10-0 at home and 4-2 on the road.

Keyser High School will be angling for its 12th consecutive win in the P. V. C. when it hosts Fort Ashby's Eagles tonight. Keyser defeated Fort Ashby, 51-47, in their first game. Keyser plays 14 P. V. C. games and needs three more wins for a perfect season in the 19-school circuit.

Bayard visits Petersburg, Mathias is at Capon Bridge and Wardsville invades Franklin for other conference games tonight.

Southern At Thomas

West Virginia School for the Deaf steps out of the P. V. C. to engage the Kendall School for the Deaf at Washington, D. C. Southern's Highlanders oppose Mountaineer High at Thomas and in a pair of Bedford County League games Tussey Mountain invades Hyndman to battle the Hornets and Everett-Southern is host to the Bedford Bisons.

South Hagerstown's Rebels are at Waynesboro, Walkersville visits North Hagerstown and Hancock faces St. Maria Goretti at Hagerstown in other Friday night contests.

Maryland Loses Bill Stasiulatis

COLLEGE PARK (AP) — Bill Stasiulatis, the University of Maryland basketball team's high scorer with 176 points in 17 games will drop out of the university for the spring semester because of scholastic reasons.

The 6-3 junior from Bayonne, N. J. will be allowed to petition for re-admission at the summer school session, university spokesman said Thursday.

The forward has averaged 52.6 per cent in his field goal shooting by scoring in 60 of 114 attempts. He has averaged 71.8 per cent from the foul line and has pulled in 64 rebounds.

The Terrapins face the University of South Carolina Friday and Clemson Saturday—both away—with a squad of only nine men.

Stasiulatis will not play in either game.

State May Lose Money If Race Tax Bill Passes

Mandel Says Raise To Benefit Tracks

By GWORGE BOWEN
ANNAPOLIS (AP)—A legislator said it appeared to him Thursday that a bill to raise the total tax on horse race betting might cause the state to receive a smaller cut.

"I don't see how that could be justified," said Del. Marvin Mandel, D-Balto 5th.

Mandel was perturbed over a section of the bill relating to changes in the division of taxes on betting at the half mile tracks.

The main purpose of the bill was to raise the total tax on all thoroughbred racing from 12 to 13 per cent. The major tracks, Bowie, Pimlico and Laurel, had agreed to give most of the revenue from the additional 1 per cent to horse owners through increased purses.

Mandel said the way he reads the section applying to the half mile tracks, the state share of the tax would be 5 per cent if the total amount bet during a meeting reached $7.5 million. The track's share would be 8 per cent. At present, the state and track each receive 6 per cent.

"So that would mean, the tracks would be receiving 2 per cent more—not 1 as was announced—and the state 1 per cent less," said Mandel.

Betting at none of the existing five half mile tracks approaches the $7.5 million figure during their present 12 days each. However, they would reach it if plans to increase the number to 24 days at Timonium and Marlboro are realized.

Asked about Mandel's interpretation of the bill, Bruce Livie, Racing Commission chairman, declared it "was a mistake" if it meant the state would ever receive a smaller percentage of the taxes than it does now.

61 Skiers To Vie In Slalom Event

CHAMONIX, France (AP)—A glittering field of 67 internationalists from 21 nations was named Thursday for the men's slalom qualification heats Saturday of the world alpine ski games.

The highly rated American squad entered four, including Chuck Ferries of Houghton, Mich.; Bud Werner of Steamboat Springs, Colo.; Bill Kidd of Stowe, Vt.; and Jim Huga of Tahoe City, Calif.

Under the new rule of the International Ski Federation, only 30—the first 15 in each heat—will qualify for the final.

Baltimore Signs Three Catchers

BALTIMORE (AP)—The Baltimore Orioles said Thursday that three young catchers have signed contracts for the 1962 baseball season.

They are Larry Haney, Andy Etchebarren, both of whom signed bonus contracts last spring, and Dave Massarelli, who was drafted from Pittsburgh in December of 1960.

The Orioles now have 22 signees and 17 players still to be heard from. President Lee MacPhail said earlier today that contracts had been received from two other bonus players, Bob Savarin and Dave Nicholson.

The three catchers will report to the Orioles' training base in Miami on Feb. 20.

BUSY JOE
DETROIT (UPI)—Joe Louis was the busiest of heavyweight champions. He participated in 27 title fights. Ezzard Charles was second with 13. Those figures include their attempts to win the crown.

In 22 years as Penn State gymnastics coach Gene Wettstone's teams have won seven NCAA team championships and nine Eastern titles.

SPORT SLANTS

Billporters Qualify

Smith's Cagers 12-4

Hunt Coaches Winner

Comer's Team Leads

By C. V. BURNS

COACH Glenn Curtis Smith's Williamsport High School quint has qualified for the Maryland District One games by winning the Class B championship of Washington county.

The Billporters at present own a 12-4 record and also lead the Bi-State Conference with a 7-1 mark. Other teams in that circuit are Harpers Ferry, Hedgesville, Hancock, Berkeley Springs, Charles Town, Boonsboro and Shepherdsboro.

Williamsport will play Brunswick, Frederick county champions, in a district playoff game at North Hagerstown High School, Friday, March 2 at 7:30 p. m.

Glenn C. Smith hails from Piedmont and is a son of Charles Evers "Bubbles" Smith, one of Piedmont High's all-time basketball greats and sparkplug of Westvaco A. A. teams. "Bubbles" now holds a supervisory position at the West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company at Luke. Glenn's brother, Charles Evers "Buck" Smith, Jr., is also a product of Piedmont High and is now a member of the Fort Hill High School faculty, coaches the junior varsity quint there and serves as assistant to Jim Eckard, varsity coach of the Sentinels. "Buck" resides at 507 Warren street.

Glenn, incidentally, was named after his uncle, Glenn "Tink" Smith, former Piedmont High sparkler and one-time Westvaco A. A. ace, now a mail carrier out of the Piedmont postoffice.

"Tink" and "Bubbles" played on the same Westvaco teams while Glenn and "Buck" played at Potomac State College and the latter also attended Frostburg State College where he played basketball. The Smith brothers are now members of Don Moran's Westernport American Legion quint, pacesetter in the County Basketball League.

Before transferring to Williamsport, Glenn Smith had a successful two-year coaching stint at Paw Paw High School where his Pirates won 36 games and lost 13. His first team in 1958-59 won 18 and lost 7 while his second chalked up 18 wins and lost 6. Williamsport has won 23 games and lost nine since Smith took over the reins. In his initial year there the Billporters won eleven and lost five.

ST. MARIA Goretti High School of Hagerstown, coached by William "Shad" Hunt, one-time LaSalle High School Explorer, and now a pressman at the Hagerstown Herald-Mail, is leading the Blue Ridge Catholic Basketball League with a 4-0 record.

St. Joseph's, Martinsburg; St. John's, Westminster; and St. Joseph's, Emmitsburg, are the other schools in the five-team loop.

St. Maria, one of the eight teams in the Albemarle Invitational Tournament here last March, has won 12 of 16 games played to date.

ROY COMER's Martinsburg High School Bulldogs are setting the pace in the six-school Tri-State Basketball League, successor to the Cumberland Valley Athletic League, with a 6-1 record.

South Hagerstown is the runner-up with 5-2 followed by Waynesboro (4-3), North Hagerstown (4-4), Frederick (2-5) and Westminster (0-6).

Three of the six teams in the league are coached by former athletes of Cumberland and vicinity. Comer hails from Ridgeley, Frederick's Homer Brooks is a product of Allegany High School and Mel Henry of North Hagerstown started out as mascot and became an all-round athlete at old Penn Avenue High School.

Augie Pabst Hurt In Daytona Crash

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla. (AP)—A Maserati driven by Augie Pabst hit the guard rail wall on Daytona International Speedway's banked turn Thursday and was demolished as it flipped over down onto the apron.

Pabst's seat belt apparently broke when the speeding sports car hit the wall and he was thrown about 60 feet from the car. He was taken to Halifax Hospital unconscious and with undetermined injuries.

The noted Milwaukee sports car driver was practicing for Sunday's Daytona Continental race.

Boxing Group May Defrock Archie Moore

Time Runs Out Today In New York State

NEW YORK (AP)—Time runs out on ancient Archie Moore Friday.

Unless the 45-year-old gladiator shows proof that he has signed for a title defense against either NBA champion Harold Johnson or Doug Jones, the New York State Athletic Commission is expected to chop off another piece of Moore's light heavyweight crown.

The commission said Thursday it is holding a meeting Friday morning.

Last Friday Gen. Melvin Krulwich, chairman of the commission, gave Archie just one more week to sign for fights with either Johnson or Jones, who had posted challenges and $2,500 forfeit checks with the commission.

Moore is recognized as king of the 175-pound class by New York, Massachusetts and Europe. The National Boxing Association, after repeated warnings to Moore to defend, finally took away recognition. It named Johnson, of Philadelphia, as its champion.

Jones, of New York, is the No. 2 contender.

If New York dethrones Moore, Massachusetts and the British and European boxing bodies undoubtedly will follow.

Archie's last defense was in New York last June 10 when he outpointed Giulio Rinaldo of Italy.

If Moore is defrocked, the commission probably will suggest a fight between Johnson and Jones for the title.

Malkmus, Oldis Agree To Terms

PHILADELPHIA (UPI)—The Philadelphia Phillies announced the signing Thursday of catcher Bob Oldis and utility infielder Bob Malkmus.

The Phillies Thursday also announced the outright sale of outfielder Ken Walters to San Diego of the Pacific Coast League for an undisclosed amount.

East-West Game Nets $238,030 For Hospitals

$750,000 Suits Filed Against Celtics, NBA

Action Is Result Of Playoff Melee

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP)—Three Syracuse men, two alleging they were injured in a melee, instituted damage suits Thursday for $750,000 against the Boston Celtics, the basketball club's coach, four players, the National Basketball Association and two other groups.

The action stems from a free-for-all last March 25 in the Onondaga County War Memorial Auditorium during the fourth game of the Celtics-Syracuse Nationals playoff series.

The plaintiffs are Joseph Duccio, Barry Lewis, 18, and his father, Jessie Lewis.

Celtics' Coach Arnold (Red) Auerbach declined comment after being served a summons in a downtown hotel. The Celtics were here for an NBA game Thursday night with the Nets.

The other defendants are players Tom Heinsohn, Gene Conley, Jim Loscutoff and Frank Ramsey, and the Onondaga County War Memorial Commission and Onondaga County.

Duccio, contending four players jumped on him and struck him after he was pushed near the Boston bench, is asking $500,000 from all the defendants. He alleges he has suffered dizziness from a head injury.

Barry Lewis is seeking $225,000 for alleged assault and battery and the father is asking $25,000, claiming loss of services of his son. Barry Lewis contends Auerbach struck him.

The fight involving spectators broke out after Auerbach protested a goal-tending call against the Celtics' Bill Russell. The Celtics won 120-107.

White Sox Sign Wynn

Needs Eight Wins To Reach 300 Mark

CHICAGO (AP)—Early Wynn, 42, the patriarch of pitching in the major leagues, signed his 1962 contract with the Chicago White Sox Thursday, hopeful he can hurl the 8 victories he needs to reach the coveted 300 mark.

Wynn's signing, which will mark his 21st major league season, came after doctor's approval of his erstwhile ailing pitching right elbow.

Wynn was benched last July 22 after achieving an 8-4 record for a career mark of 292-228. He hasn't thrown a ball since.

Wynn visited the Sox physician, Dr. Joseph T. Coyle, who told him Thursday his right elbow is in very good shape. Immediately, Wynn huddled with Sox General Manager Ed Short and signed his 1962 pact.

The ailment was diagnosed as muscle trouble aggravated by a good condition.

Palmer Grabs Three-Stroke Lead In Phoenix Open

Shoots First Round Seven Under Par 64

Collects Six Birdies In First 7 Holes; Art Wall Is Second

PHOENIX (UPI) — The amazing Arnold Palmer, hitting the ball straighter and farther than ever before, rolled into a big three stroke lead in the first round of the $35,000 Phoenix Open golf tournament Thursday when he fired a seven-under-par 64. Getting off to a blistering start when he birdied six out of the first seven holes, Palmer took the three stroke advantage over former Masters champion, Art Wall, Pocono Manor, Pa. who had a 67.

Two strokes further back were six men with 69s — Fred Hawkins, Don Massengale, Jack Nicklaus, Gardner Dickenson, Bruce Crampton of Australia and Bill Johnston.

Hitting Ball Well
Palmer, the British Open champion and defending king in this event and fresh from winning the Palm Springs classic, confessed he was hitting the ball "at least 20 yards further than he usually does."

He equalled the course record of 30 on the front nine on a layout that boasts tight, tree-lined fairways. He had 34 on the return trip. Par for the rain-dampened course is 36-35-71.

Wall, usually the perfectionist, had to scramble Thursday to get his 67. He was out in 35 back in '32.

"I would say I got the most out of a none too good game," he said.

But Palmer stunned the other pros with his front nine. "If I'd putted a little bit, it would have been a real good round," quipped Arnie as he walked off the 18th green.

As it was, it gave him a big advantage over the other pros—and they all admit he doesn't need any lead at all.

Palmer had finished up winning at Palm Springs last Sunday by shooting five consecutive birdies on the final round. Thursday he birdied six of the first seven holes with a string of four in a row at one time.

"He was driving so beautifully," said Bob Rosburg, who played in the same threesome with Palmer and Davey Hill, "that it was unbelievable. Hill is a good man off the tee. I was hitting my very best shots. And still Arnold was as much as 50 yards ahead of us. I never saw such perfection off the tee."

Rosburg and Hill both wound up with one-under par 70s.

Palmer had been listed as the co-favorite with Gene Littler for this championship. But he pulled six strokes ahead of the National Open champion, who also had a 70.

Roy Stingy With Walks
Relief star Roy Face amazed everyone last year when he walked only 10 men in 92 innings. A check reveals that four of the 10 walks were intentional.

Roger Maris and Mickey Mantle, in hitting 61 and 54 home runs, respectively, in 1961, shattered the two-man season record of 107. The latter mark was set by Babe Ruth with 60 and Lou Gehrig with 47 in 1927.

Week after week, it seems, we talk about sports. This is, of course, quite natural since we — personally — and a great many of our regular customers are vitally interested in sports of all sorts.

This, however, can be misleading for there are many things of interest to us and our customers other than sports.

Conversation and mutual interests are but two of the reasons why so many, many people find hours of relaxation at The Cas Taylors.

Our delicious food brings many people to the corner of N. Mechanic and Valley streets... food that is served beginning with breakfast at 7:00 A. M. and ending with dinner until 11:00 P. M.

Our delicious, popular priced drinks are big attractions, too, as well you might imagine.

Add this altogether plus our unique, relaxing atmosphere and you have THE place to go... The Cas Taylors.

Phils To Retire Uniform No. "36," Worn By Roberts

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — The Philadelphia Phillies will retire uniform number "36"—the one worn for 14 major league seasons by their winningest pitcher, Robin Roberts.

Phillies officials said Tuesday the number will be retired officially March 21 in special ceremonies honoring the veteran righthander at Clearwater, Fla. when the New York Yankees meet the Phils in an exhibition game.

Roberts was sold to the Yankees at the end of last season. He won 234 games and lost 199 with the Phillies including six consecutive 20-game victory seasons.

Bowie Opens Today: Fans Watch Weather Reports As Carefully As Form Sheets

Rain Is Forecast; Snow Close Track For Week Last Year

BOWIE, Md. (AP)—The Bowie race track opens Friday and horse racing fans are watching the weather reports as carefully as their form sheets.

With good reason. Last year, when the season opened on Jan. 21, snow halted operations four times during the 40-day "spring" meeting.

For one period last year, the track was closed by snow for a week. A couple of years ago, thousands of fans stayed overnight at the track when a snowstorm paralyzed transportation.

The most recent weather report forecasts cloudy, mild and rainy for the opening day, and also for Saturday, when they run the $7,500 added Burch Handicap.

A dozen horses are entered in the Burch, including Moon Shot, which equalled the track record of 1:03 4-5 over five and a half furlongs last year and will carry top weight of 122 pounds Saturday.

Expect 13,000 Today

The track general manager, John F. Loomer, says he expects about 13,000 persons for the opening Friday at 1:30 p.m.

The opening feature Friday is the E. Palmer Heagerty Purse, famed for the late chart caller for the Racing Form and Morning Telegraph.

Track officials have hedged in two ways in expressing hopes for good weather. The 40-day season is scheduled to end March 27, and although Bowie has no carry-over days from last year, officials have set aside three additional days to make up any postponements.

They also have purchased an eight-ton snowblaster which they say is capable of clearing six inches of snow from the one-mile track in four hours.

Protests Track Sale

The track was sold Tuesday to Patino Mines and Enterprises of Canada. Samuel R. Zetzer of Baltimore said Thursday he would protest the sale and the purchase price of $5 million.

Zetzer said he represented four stockholders who have about 3,000 of the approximately 485,000 shares outstanding.

Guley Will Resign As Syracuse Coach

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP)—Marc Guley, whose Syracuse University basketball team has lost its last 21 games, is resigning as coach at the end of the season, the university said Thursday. He has a 135-125 record as coach since 1950.

Ingo Essays Comeback Bout Tonight

Johansson To Fight Bygraves In Sweden

GOTEBORG, Sweden (AP) — Ingemar Johansson said Thursday he probably will hang up his gloves if he loses Friday night's comeback bout to Joe Bygraves. However, Johansson is a 4-1 favorite.

"I want to get back the world title," said the 29-year-old Swede, who won the heavyweight boxing crown from Floyd Patterson in 1959, lost it in 1960 and was knocked out again by Patterson in his last start, March 13, 1961.

"If I do well against Bygraves, I will keep pushing toward winning back the crown. If I lose, then I'll probably hang up my gloves for good."

A sellout crowd of 6,000 will watch the fight at Goteborg's Maesshallen Stadium.

Like Johansson, Bygraves also is making a comeback. He suffered a broken right leg in August 1960 and was out of action for over a year. He has won two minor bouts since his return. Bygraves, 30, has a 38-15-1 record. He was British Empire king in 1957.

Johansson said he is down to fighting weight of 198 pounds. His record is 22-2 with 14 knockouts.

Winter Carnival Set For Davis

DAVIS, W. Va. (UPI) — It appears that the eighth annual Winter Carnival of the Washington, D. C. Ski Club will have the cooperation of the weather man as activities begin here this week end.

Between 500 and 1,000 persons are expected here for the annual event. The State Commerce Department said Thursday that fair skiing conditions appear in sight. One-quarter inch of new snow fell Thursday, adding to a base of several inches already on the slopes of Weiss Knob and Cabin Mountain. There also is a possibility of more snow before the week end.

House Refuses Grand Inquest Move, 94-21

Would Do No Good, Says Del. Boone

By GEORGE BOWEN

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—The Maryland House of Delegates quickly and emphatically refused by a 94-21 vote Thursday to transform itself into an investigating body of savings and loan operations.

The decisive vote came after a mild 15 minutes of debate on a subject of heated political talk for months. Opponents of Gov. Tawes' re-election have tried to lay troubles in the industry at his doorstep.

Del. Carlton R. Sickles, D-Prince Georges, was the only member to speak in support of his motion to have the House become a grand inquest. His move was seconded by Del. Blair Lee III, D-Montgomery.

Political Motives Hinted

Sickles and Lee are on a Democratic primary ticket opposed to Tawes and talk was traded that the move for a grand inquest was politically inspired.

Sickles, anticipating such a charge, maintained it was "better for it to be politically inspired than financially inspired."

Democratic Floor Leader A. Gordon Boone, D-Balto County, said he didn't intend to use the "floor of this House as a political forum" and that Sickles' motive was political.

Boone, calling for defeat of the motion, argued that "this legislation would stop" if the House had to devote time to a grand inquest. He said "nothing was accomplished" when the House held one in 1956 on a strike of the Baltimore Transit Co.

"Two Years Too Late"

Del. Alger Y. Barbee, D-Montgomery, said Sickles was "two years too late" with his move since a law regulating savings associations was enacted last year.

Since then, more than 100 firms have had their charters revoked and several others forced into receivership. Sickles called the situation a mess and said a grand inquest was in order to get facts to correct it.

Sickles said the inquiry could review effectiveness of last year's law, study practices of firms in insuring assets of savings and loans, and ways of providing tax relief for depositors losing money in closed firms.

Earlier in the day, Sickles, Lee and Sen. Samuel W. Barrick, D-Frederick, another member of their primary ticket, endorsed generally most of Gov. Tawes' legislative program.

Unfavorable Report

One of the planks suffered an early setback in the morning. The Senate Judiciary Committee reported unfavorably on making it more difficult to petition legislative acts to the ballot.

The bill, which emanated from the legislative council, would have required the number of signatures to equal 10 per cent of the vote cast in the previous election for governor. This would be 76,000 based on the 1956 vote. Statewide acts now may be forced to referendum by 10,000 signers.

However, the committee probably will reconsider its action. Sen. Frederick C. Malkus, D-Dorchester, the chairman, was among four members absent and he had scheduled a public hearing on the bill for next Tuesday.

The Senate adopted a favorable committee report on another bill to jail fathers who refuse to support their illegitimate children.

Men Held For Grand Jury In Entry Attempt

Three local young men were ordered held for action of the grand jury yesterday at a preliminary hearing in Trial Magistrate Court on charges of attempted breaking and entering of the Christoforo Columbo Club on February 2.

Magistrate F. Allan Weatherholt set bond at $2,500 each and the three were returned to Allegany County jail when they were unable to meet bond.

They are John J. Long, 25, of 303 Pulaski Street; George Keller, 25, of 239 Henderson Avenue; and Samuel W. Brown, 21, of 121 Columbia Street.

The men were arrested in Bedford, Pa. Monday night and taken to the county jail for questioning. City Police Detective Captain James E. Van obtained warrants charging them with attempted breaking and entering.

Officer James A. Brown said that during a routine patrol of his beat he spotted the three men in the rear of the Christoforo Columbo Club and that they fled in an auto. Officer Brown's investigation revealed the back door of the establishment had been removed.

Assistant state's attorney Donald Mason presented the state's case and John M. Robb represented the three men at the preliminary hearing.

Equity Suits Filed

Three equity suits have been filed in Allegany County Circuit Court. The bills of complaint were titled Anna Pearl Ruse vs. Raymond Carl Ruse, Sonja J. Fray-Glenn vs. Anthony Franciotti and Evelyn Loubell James vs. Franklin Howard James.

Senate Unit Cancels Action On Petition Bill

Hearing Scheduled Next Tuesday

By GORDON BEARD
ANNAPOLIS (AP)—The Senate Judiciary Committee gave an unfavorable report to an administration-backed bill Thursday, but the vote later was withdrawn pending a public hearing.

Not a dissenting vote was heard when nine committee members adopted the unfavorable report on a proposed constitutional amendment to increase substantially the number of signatures needed on statewide referendum petitions.

The vote was taken after Sen. Frederick C. Malkus Jr., D-Dorchester, the committee chairman, had left to attend a court hearing in Baltimore.

When he returned to Annapolis, Malkus said the measure would have to be reconsidered by the committee because he had previously promised the League of Women Voters a chance to present their views at a hearing next Tuesday. His colleagues were unaware of this, Malkus said.

Administration Bill

The bill was introduced by the Legislative Council with the backing of the Tawes Administration. In his address to a joint session of the legislature Wednesday, Tawes listed the bill among six he wanted the lawmakers to enact this session.

Statewide legislative acts now can be petitioned to the election ballot with signatures of 10,000 qualified voters, of which not more than half are residents of Baltimore City or any one county.

The proposed amendment, which itself would be placed on the ballot if enacted by the Legislature, sets the required number at 10 per cent of the number of votes cast in the preceding gubernatorial election.

Based on 1958 election results, the suggested amendment would make it necessary for petitioners to obtain 76,300 signatures.

Committee members contended the 10 per cent figure was too high, but no one suggested a specific, less stringent requirement.

Why Change System?

Sen. Margaret Schweinhaut, D-Montgomery, who said her populous county was under-represented in the General Assembly, contended the current law "could be a major protection" as a recourse against possible damaging statewide legislation.

Sen. Edward O. Weant Jr., D-Carroll, indicated he would favor raising the signature requirement to prevent abuse by petitioners "who were not actually interested in the acts" but merely seeking publicity.

After the 1961 General Assembly, four acts were made subject to petition. But as of the moment only two—those applying to redistricting and unemployment laws—will be on the November ballot.

"Why take away the right to petition because of one or two abuses?" Sen. John L. Sanford Jr., D-Worcester, asked.

B&O Seeking To Discontinue 'Night Express'

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Baltimore & Ohio Railroad asked the Interstate Commerce Commission (ICC) Thursday for permission to discontinue the line's last direct passenger service between Cleveland, Ohio, and the nation's capital.

The B & O cited steadily declining passenger use and falling revenues in the request to halt operations after March 10 of the two trains making up the east and west bound sections of "The Cleveland Night Express."

The Railroad said the trains were the last two operating over the 450-mile Washington-Cleveland route but that three other B & O trains traveled daily between Washington and Akron, Ohio.

It cited a combined net annual operating loss for the two trains of $133,000 and an overall net income deficit for B & O last year of $81 million. The railroad hoped to save $300,000 a year by discontinuing the service.

The ICC could order the trains continued for a period of four months pending an investigation on whether to approve the discontinuance.

Lead Discussion At Livestock Meeting

Three speakers from College Park are pictured here with Allegany County Agent Joseph M. Steger, center, and James I. Robison of Mt. Savage, second from right, who presided at yesterday's annual winter meeting for livestock and dairy farmers of the county at the LaVale Fire Hall. Pictured, left to right, are Dr. J. Robert Schabinger, dairy department specialist; Dr. J. Raxton Marshall, professor of agricultural economics; Mr. Steger, Mr. Robison and Dr. James R. Ferguson, extension specialist in animal husbandry. About 50 beef and dairy cattle men from Allegany County attended.

Speaker Cites Misconceptions Of Mastitis

50 Farmers Attend LaVale Meeting

Dr. J. Robert Schabinger from the dairy department of the University of Maryland told a group of Allegany County farmers yesterday afternoon that most dairy men have the wrong idea about the causes of mastitis, which is an inflammation of the udder of cows.

Dr. Schabinger told the farmers at the annual winter meeting at the LaVale Fire Hall that 45 per cent of mastitis is caused by improper milking machinery and 45 per cent more is attributed to the methods of milking. The other 10 per cent is blamed on miscellaneous causes. A cold barn, wet bedding and leaving cattle out of doors in bad weather can contribute to mastitis.

The specialist said that farmers are wrong who believe that mastitis is caused by change of feed, overfeeding, high protein diet or too much grain.

Another speaker at the meeting which attracted some 50 livestock and dairy farmers was Dr. James R. Ferguson, extension specialist in animal husbandry at College Park. He stressed that livestock farmers should recognize and select animals that can produce the greatest profit for them.

During the morning session yesterday, Dr. J. Paxton Marshall, professor of agricultural economics at the University of Maryland, emphasized that the decision on purchase of farm machinery must be based on the primary question, "Will it pay for itself." The farmer must have enough acreage to justify the equipment purchase.

James I. Robison of Mt. Savage served as chairman for the meeting. The luncheon was served through the courtesy of the Cumberland Fair Association.

Your Child's Teeth

This is the second in a series of typical questions about dental health and their authoritative answers published by The Cumberland News in cooperation with the Allegany-Garrett County Dental Society, in observance of National Children's Dental Health Week.

I am new in my area and want to know how to go about selecting a dentist.

There are several reliable methods of obtaining names of reputable dentists in your area:

1. Telephone the office of the local dental society, if one is listed in the telephone book, and ask for the names of several qualified dentists. If there is no listing, write the American Dental Association, 222 East Superior St., Chicago 11, Ill., for information.

2. Ask your physician to recommend several dentists.

3. Telephone the chief of dental service or the attending dentist of an accredited hospital and ask him to recommend several qualified dentists.

4. Consult the American Dental Directory, which is available in libraries and hospitals, to learn the background of the dentist. This directory lists alphabetically and geographically every dentist in the United States and provides information concerning age, school attended, year of graduation, nature of practice and membership in the American Dental Association.

When I took my three-year-old child to the dentist for the first time, the dentist insisted I stay in the waiting room while he examined my child. Why is this?

Most dentists find the child will accept dental treatment more readily if parents are not present. Dentists also prefer that you bring the child in before any trouble develops so that the child may become accustomed to the dentist and the office. The appointment, if possible, should be in the morning since children cooperate better when they are not tired.

Some other pointers on that first visit.

—Don't offer a bribe to the child.

—Let the child learn about the importance and value of dental treatment from your attitude toward it.

—Make the appointment and keep it.

—Let the dentist do the talking.

—What is a gum boil and why does it occur?

A gum boil is an abscess resulting from an infected pulp or nerve in a nearby tooth. It indicates that there is seriously advanced decay in the tooth and you may be in danger of losing it. When the pulp of the tooth becomes infected, an abscess forms and as pus collects it works its way through the end of the root and into the jaw bone and pushes out the gum to resemble a boil. Abscesses should never be neglected.

Do some people have "soft teeth" that are more inclined to decay? Does this run in families? There is little difference in the hardness of teeth, and this difference has no bearing on the rate of tooth decay.

Almost everyone is susceptible to dental decay in some degree. It is true that the teeth of some persons appear to be more inclined to decay; however, this may be due to poor dental habits and lack of regular dental treatment.

The main point to remember is that the environmental factors—toothbrushing, cutting down on sweets and regular dental treatment—appear to be more important than any inherited factors.

My husband drinks six glasses of milk a day. He says it's good for his teeth. Does it really help them?

It is highly unlikely.

First of all, a diet which is adequate for good general health is sufficient for dental health. Three to four eight-ounce glasses of milk is usually the standard recommendation for children; two or three glasses for adults.

Secondly, it appears doubtful that the teeth, once they have erupted, receive any great amount of calcium from food that is eaten. Once the tooth is in the mouth, the best dietary advice from a dental point of view is negative: Don't eat too many foods containing fermentable carbohydrates, particularly sugar.

State Suggests Upgrading Of Water System

Report Mentions Possibilities

(This is the last of a series based on a State Health Department report to the Allegany County Sanitary Commission on the 14 water supplies which serve residents of this county.)

Three possibilities for the improvement of the water system which serves Barton are mentioned in a report submitted by the State Health Department.

The portion of the report which pertains to Barton follows:

The Town of Barton owns its own water system. Sources of supply are Butcher Run with an impoundment and at least three small wells. It is reported that the best of these wells will produce 40,000 gpd with the others producing considerably less and all of the wells mutually interfering.

The quality of the water from Butcher Run is extremely poor and the quantity is entirely inadequate to meet the needs of the community. It was reported that the current usage is 90,000 gpd.

At the time of my visit Butcher Run was completely dry and the water level in the impoundment was some 10 to 15 feet below normal.

No information has been obtained concerning the distribution system but it is entirely probable that reinforcement or replacement would be needed.

Cites Possibilities

In order to provide an adequate water system for the Town of Barton, several possibilities exist. The first of these would be development of additional sources of supply. The most apparent source is Laurel Run with adequate raw water storage. Filtration and chlorination would be needed.

The second possibility would be to develop underground sources of supply although from current well experience, it is doubtful that this is practical. The third would be through extension of the system of the Lonaconing Water Company.

Friendly Suit Settled Here

A friendly damage suit stemming from an accident near St. Mary's Church last year has been settled out of Allegany County Circuit Court.

Vicki Lee Vandegrift, through her mother, Mrs. Virginia V. Howdyshell, 433 Williams Street, brought the suit against Raymond Long, agent for Long's Kitchen and Building Supplies Inc., 124 Union Street.

The girl was reported to have been struck at the intersection of Oldtown Road and "A" Street on June 22, 1961 by a pickup truck driven by Long. The child was hospitalized as a result of the accident.

Meeting Sought With LaVale On Sewage Issue

Decision Deferred On Wage Increases

The Mayor and Council last night discussed LaVale's proposal to purchase sewage treatment services from the City of Cumberland and is trying to arrange a meeting with representatives of the LaVale Sanitary Commission.

Attempts are being made to arrange the meeting for Monday at 11 a. m. in City Hall, with a representative of Whitman, Reardon and Associates, the commission's consulting engineer, present.

The city is expected to state its basic position to LaVale at the Monday meeting, which is expected to set the stage for future negotiation.

There is a possibility that the Mayor and Council might consider hiring a consulting engineer to advise the city in regard to a fair charge to be made to LaVale for the use of the facilities of the Cumberland sewage treatment plant.

City officials have assured LaVale that they are willing to cooperate in meeting that community's sewage treatment problems, and that they are interested in making use of reserve capacity at the plant here.

The other subject discussed at the special discussion session was the possibility of providing a wage increase for city workers.

City officials failed to come to an immediate decision on the wage boost issue, and made tentative plans to confer with the Civil Service Commission on wage classification and pay plan proposals before coming to a decision.

City Clerk Wallace G. Ullery will be asked to try to set up this joint meeting next week.

During the wage plan discussion, various commissioners mentioned certain sums which might be available for wage boosts if scheduled work or capital improvements were deferred.

Pact Proposal Meetings Set By Local 1874

Celanese Local 1874, Textile Workers Union of America, AFL-CIO, will hold special meetings next week to discuss proposals for a new contract at the Amcelle plant.

The meetings will be held Thursday, February 15, at 7:30 p. m. and Friday, February 16, at 10:30 a. m. in the union hall, according to Robert L. Jones, secretary-treasurer.

The present contract at the Amcelle plant is due to expire on April 8, and the union has sent the company the usual 60-day notice of intention to open the contract.

No date has been announced for the opening of the contract talks which will affect some 2,300 hourly-paid workers at the Amcelle plant of Celanese Fibers Company.

The present contract, approved early last May, provided a two per cent wage increase for a four or five-cent-an-hour wage boost.

PPG, Union Continue Talks

CINCINNATI (AP) — Negotiations for a new contract between the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Co. and the United Glass and Ceramic Worker continued Thursday.

Donald J. Sherbondy, director of industrial relations for Pittsburgh Glass, declined to discuss the progress of the talks. He said no report on the progress of the negotiations will be made until agreement is reached.

A federal mediator is expected to sit in on the talks later this week. The contract negotiations began Monday.

The present contract expires Feb. 16. It was reached in February 1959 after a 134-day strike.

Judge Revokes Suspended Term

George Washington Collins Jr., 38, of RD 4, Mexico Farms, yesterday was sentenced to 60 days in the Allegany County Jail by Associate Judge W. Earle Coby as a violator of his probation.

Collins was convicted last October 20 on a charge of being drunk and disorderly. The 60-day sentence was suspended provided Collins abstained from the use of intoxicants and remained on good behavior.

State's Attorney James S. Getty petitioned the court this week that Collins had violated the terms of his probation. Mr. Getty noted that Collins was convicted February 1 of assault and received a suspended sentence in Trial Magistrate Court. On February 5, Collins was arrested again and was charged with being drunk and disorderly.

Collins originally was sentenced to three months in the Maryland House of Correction last July 8 by Magistrate F. Allan Weatherholt but he appealed to Circuit Court.
